Importation Of Farm Labor To County Protested

SRA LEADERS OPPOSED TO STATE PLAN

Thousands to Be Cut Off
Relief Budgets to Aid in Crop Harvest

INDICATIONS that Los Angeles county plans to send labor to Orange county to help harvest agricultural crops announced in a statement from Roy S. Stockton, chief of the State Employment Service, were met here today with immediate protest from SRA officials.

The announcement from Los Angeles said that thousands of California unemployed will be cut off relief budgets to help harvest agricultural crops this year. With a view of registering immediately all available workers, Stockton called a conference of managers of all 16 state employment offices to be held in San Francisco Saturday.

The placements will be compulsory, Stockton said, adding that most of the workers will be drafted from Los Angeles county relief rolls.

"We are starting to build our registration of farm and agricultural workers of every kind," he said. "Migratory farm laborers, as well as those settled here, should register with us immediately. Calls are coming in from citrus groves now. Work will begin in the vegetable fields in March and April and care of deciduous orchards will follow rapidly. Present indications are that Los Angeles county will have to send labor to Orange county and to the Sacramento, San Joaquin and Salinas valleys."

Dr. George A. Warner, member of the Orange County SRA committee, said today that he can see no reason for importing labor into Orange county, where there has been a surplus of labor ever since the depression. He pointed out that there is a danger of the imported workers staying here, establishing residence and becoming relief clients in this county. Last year, he said, as soon as agricultural work opened up, the SRA wrote all agricultural laborers off the relief rolls and thereby compelled agricultural labor to accept work on private farms rather than staying on relief. Even then, Dr. Warner said, there was never a time when all the agricultural labor here was taken up by private work.

TRAFFIC IN STATE CLAIMS 2809 LIVES

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 26.—California traffic fatalities reached the new high of 2809 victims during 1935, Ray Ingels, director of motor vehicles, revealed today.

An exceptionally heavy toll during the last three months of the year was responsible for the increase, as records showed 40 fewer deaths the first nine months than during the corresponding period of 1934.

November was the worst month of the year for accidents, 303 persons being killed then.

COUNTY HOSPITAL UNDER QUARANTINE

WOODLAND, Cal., Feb. 26.—One hundred patients at the Yolo county hospital were quarantined today following an outbreak of scarlet fever in the hospital maternity ward.

Three women were reported ill of the disease in the ward. Dr. George M. Uhl barred hospital visitors for one week.

Most of the patients in the institution reportedly had been exposed to the fever.

Hot Debate Resumed In Hagood Case

Nebraska Solon Says Witnesses Should Not Be Gagged by Executive

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A senate inquiry into removal of Mr. Gen. Johnson Hagood, critic of WPA, from command of the Eighth Corps Area, was demanded in a resolution introduced in the senate today by Sen. Jesse Metcalf, R., R. I.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Defense and criticism of Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood swept the house into stormy debate today with Rep. Clifton Woodrum, D., Va., charging Hagood had sought to "lay out his commander-in-chief."

"The customary exemption for officers testifying before a congressional committee," Woodrum said, "doesn't give them license to be disloyal to their commander-in-chief, call names or discuss matters of executive or legislative policy."

Hagood was retired from duty after he had criticized the WPA. Whether a Republican or Democrat was in the White House, Woodrum said, "General Hagood should have been disciplined."

Woodrum, a close friend of President Roosevelt, made clear that he was not speaking for the administration or the war department.

Hagood, he said, "squared back in an arrogant dictatorial way and evidently proceeded to lay out his commander-in-chief."

Splendid Record
"His remarks were later sent to him and his attention was called to what he said," Woodrum added, "and he said he had no desire to change his remarks before they became public property."

"He has a splendid military record, but he ought to stay on his reservation and not make caustic remarks."

BANKS OF GEORGIA BALK GOV. TALMADGE

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 26.—Banks of Georgia threatened today to balk if not overthrown the financial dictatorship of Governor Eugene Talmadge.

While locksmen cut into state vaults with acetylene torches and gave him $550,000, banks serving as state depositories indicated they would not release funds voluntarily.

The governor's dictatorship resulted from refusal of the state treasurer and comptroller general to honor his executive warrants for funds in the absence of a legislative appropriation.

A de facto treasurer appointed by Talmadge after his dismissal of the recalcitrant officials has not deposited the $550,000 with banks. Banks indicated they would not accept the money, nor permit the new treasurer to withdraw funds deposited by the ousted treasurer.

SLAYER OF FATHER ACQUITTED BY JURY

ANADARKO, Okla., Feb. 26.—Emma Willis, 18-year-old farm girl who shot and killed her father, Iddis Willis, as the alleged climax to years of abuse and abnormal advances, was acquitted today.

The jury recommended she be committed to a hospital for the insane.

The verdict was not guilty by reason of insanity.

CITRUS GROWERS OF COUNTY ORGANIZE AT PLACENTIA AND ELECT KAMMERER PRESIDENT

ORGANIZATION of the Orange County Citrus Growers association was effected in Placentia yesterday with election of a president, A. W. Kammerer of Fullerton, and a board of directors when 60 growers met at the Placentia American Legion clubhouse.

The express purpose of the organization, according to President Kammerer, who talked briefly, and William Wallop, who told of past meetings, is to study the whole orange marketing organization with an express view of protection to the grower. The first step will be to appoint from the roster of some 150 members a committee "to work out a program for control of the orange juice situation in Orange county," and his committee will be appointed following a meeting of the board of directors at the Elks' club, Anaheim, next Tuesday, and a membership meeting, in Anaheim, possibly at the city hall, following at 1:30 p.m.

Urgency of the need for growers to get control of the fruit juice market was stressed. Ralph McFadden made the motion for such a program. The directors will appoint a large committee for action.

Board is Named
Members of the board of directors are Dr. H. D. Newkirk of Anaheim, Dr. L. C. Deming of Anaheim, William Wallop, vice president, and Ralph McFadden, Placentia; O. J. Dyckman, Yorba

FARMERS LOAN BILL IS VETOED BY ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—President Roosevelt today vetoed a bill authorizing an appropriation of $50,000,000 to provide loans to farmers during 1936 for crop production—principally seed loans.

President Roosevelt's veto was considered a significant development in the administration's indicated intention to curtail government expenditures.

Mr. Roosevelt suggested that instead of providing a new appropriation of $50,000,000, he could utilize unexpended 1935 relief funds for the same purpose and thus avoid further unsettlement of budget and finance plans.

Mr. Roosevelt made plain that he would take active steps to prevent further unsettlement of budget plans.

He based his veto directly on the fact that the loan bill failed to carry any method of raising revenue to meet its cost and that the expenditure was not provided for in the plans for the 1936 and 1937 fiscal years.

The loan bill was intended to aid small farmers who have difficulty in financing their spring planting. It provided that farmers would be allowed to borrow small amounts of money from the government and was similar to farm loan measures passed by congress in recent years.

The president cited his budget message recommendation that "additional taxes be provided" if congress passed any measure imposing new charges on the treasury.

"While I am returning this bill without my approval," Mr. Roosevelt said, "I recognize that there

HALT SPECULATION BY RESERVE BANKS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Purchases of speculative securities by federal reserve member banks were forbidden in regulations issued today by federal banking authorities.

The regulations defined buying and selling of investment securities by banks and set narrow limits in which banks may deal in the securities.

"The purchase of investment securities," the regulations said in part, "in which the investment characteristics are distinctly or predominantly speculative or investment securities of a lower designated standard than those which are distinctly or predominantly speculative is prohibited. The purchase of securities which are in default either as to principle or interest, is also prohibited."

Legion Hall Crowded At Early Hour

"Heart Smasher Dinner" is Demonstrated; School Lasts Three Days

BULLETIN
Due to the fact that the Legion hall was filled to capacity it was necessary to close the doors at 1 o'clock. Fully 1500 persons were unable to gain admission. The Register is extremely sorry that such an emergency arose, but efforts to get a larger hall in the city were fruitless. Persons unable to get into the hall tomorrow or Friday are urged to fill out blanks for prizes. The blanks may be obtained and left at Maroney's Furniture store. They will be deposited at the cooking school.

WITH MORE than 2000 enthusiastic women in attendance, the opening session of the Register cooking school was held this afternoon in the American Legion hall on Birch between Third and Fourth streets. Two more big days are in store for interested housewives in sessions scheduled for tomorrow and Friday.

Doors of the Legion hall swung open promptly at noon today, and the opening session started at 2 p. m. with the great crowd of women joining keen interest in the carefully prepared program, arranged by The Register in cooperation with the Southern Counties Gas company.

At the cooking school today, Mrs. Lucille Martens, nationally famous domestic science expert, prepared and demonstrated a "Heart Smasher Dinner" comprised of baked welshers and dressing, au gratin peas and potatoes, baked pears and orange pudding, molded tomato salad and apple sauce pinwheels.

FIRE NAVIGATION AIDES FOR 'TALK'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper today said dismissal of Frederick L. Adams and Commander H. McCoy Jones, high navigation bureau officials, was ordered in an effort to halt "news leaks" in the department.

Dismissal of the officials, second and third ranking executives in the bureau, climaxed a smoldering fight within the department over safety-at-sea regulations.

Roper turned over most of the explanation of the dismissals, which become effective Saturday, to his aide, Assistant Secretary J. M. Johnson. Insubordination was the nominal charge on which the dismissals were based.

BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION ELECTS NEWCOMB PRESIDENT

ELECTION of Fred Newcomb, prominent Santa Ana business man, as president of the Business Men's Association of Santa Ana, featured a joint meeting of the old and new boards of directors last night in the association offices in the Builders Exchange building.

J. L. Bascom was elected vice-president last night, in which he replaced Phil M. Brown was re-elected secretary-manager. Newcomb succeeds Herbert P. Rankin as president of the association. Bascom succeeds Walter Swanberger as vice president.

Retiring members of the board of directors, besides Rankin, are Fred Merker, Ralph Raitt and Jerry Hall. Members of the new board who were just elected and who were seated last night are Rodney Bacon, Claude Knox, Bob Fernandez and B. H. Baker. Holdover members are Walter Swanberger, Gil Ward and J. L. Bascom.

TALMADGE IN DEMAND BANK GIVE UP FUNDS

ATLANTA, Feb. 26.—Gov. Eugene Talmadge today demanded that the Fulton National bank, a state depository surrender approximately $900,000 of state funds it holds or pay 7 per cent interest on the money.

The governor's action followed refusal of the bank to honor a check for $100,000 signed by J. B. Daniel, Georgia's new treasurer under the financial dictatorship of Talmadge.

"We declined to pay the check," announced W. W. Connolly, vice president of the bank, after a conference with Daniel. The treasurer declined to say for what purpose the check was drawn, but it appeared to be a test of the governor's dictatorship and legal review.

ASK $50,000 FOR TOWNSEND PROBE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The house Townsend committee voted today to ask the house for $50,000 to carry on its investigation of financing of the old age pension plans, including the Townsend plan.

The action was taken at the first formal meeting of the special committee. It was also decided to start hearings within a few days. It was expected that R. E. Clements, treasurer of the Townsend movement, would be one of the first witnesses.

The committee named James R. Sullivan, Kansas City lawyer, as its chief counsel.

Sullivan, according to Chairman Sullivan, according to Chairman Sullivan, excellent record as an investigator and trial attorney. Sullivan has been assistant city counselor of Kansas City for years and previously was a city investigator.

DELAY NAMING OF NEW NAVAL AIDE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—At least a week will elapse before President Roosevelt is prepared to name a successor to the late Col. Henry L. Roosevelt as assistant secretary of the navy, it was indicated at the White House today.

At the same time, officials minimized reports that the administration was contemplating installing Ambassador Josephus Daniels as secretary of the navy, a post he held in war time, in the place of Secretary Claude B. Swanson who is dangerously ill.

It was learned today that the name of James A. Moffett, former housing administrator, had been given serious consideration as a likely successor to Col. Roosevelt. Moffett, during the war, was in charge of naval oil supplies aboard

TROOPS GUARD STREETS AND BUSINESS HALTED; FLEET SENT TO OSAKA

BULLETIN
TOKYO, Thursday, Feb. 27.—3:10 A. M.—The government declared full martial law in Tokyo at 3 A. M. today. Tokyo and Osaka were completely quiet. Gen. Kashii, head of the Tokyo garrison, was in command here. The first division of the army patrolled the capital. There were no reports of fighting anywhere.

BULLETIN
TOKYO, Feb. 26.—Fumio Goto, home minister, was named temporary prime minister tonight, an official home office statement said.

TOKYO, Feb. 26.—The army and navy maintained public order in Japan after young army extremists assassinated three of Japan's highest statesmen and attacked others today in a bold, merciless attempt at a coup.

The first fleet was ordered to Tokyo and the second fleet to Osaka, the great industrial city. The war office was in control in Tokyo under an emergency state of alarm, approaching martial law.

Troops guarded the streets and all public buildings and homes of high officials. The Bank of Japan closed temporarily.

All official statements came from the war office. Its first announcement of what had happened revealed that Premier Keisuke Okada, Admiral Makoto Saito, lord keeper of the seal and former premier, and Gen. Jotaro Watanabe, inspector general of military operations, had been killed.

The communique said Korekiyo Takahashi, finance minister, and Admiral Soroku Suzuki, grand chamberlain, were injured, and that Count Makino, former lord privy seal, was missing after he had escaped from the attackers at the Yugawara Hot Springs hotel.

Although the war office said Takahashi was only wounded, private advisers insisted he was dead.

The communique said the attack was made by "several young officers" at 5 a. m. Wednesday. It revealed that the newspaper Asahi had been attacked. The Asahi is liberal and opposed to the militarists. Its type was damaged so badly it could not publish this afternoon.

An official war office announcement revealed details tonight of the army uprising in which three high

TENSION GRIPS WASHINGTON AT TOKYO REPORTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Assassination of Japan's governmental leaders may have a vital effect on America's relations with Tokyo.

The state department has lived in hopes that the continuation of a moderate government in Japan would enable this country to solve its many problems with Japan, involving immigration, the "open door" policy of trade in China, and an agreement on naval strength.

The triumph of the liberals in last week's election gave new hope of Japanese-American friendship. This hope was blasted, in the mind of diplomats, by the assassination of Liberal leaders and the apparent triumph of Japan's ultra-militarists.

Air of Tension
There was an air of tension around Secretary of State Cordell Hull's office as American statesmen learned of the military coup. It was a development they long have dreaded.

Official reports from the U. S. embassy in Tokyo had been received but had not been made public.

Secretaries of the Japanese embassy hurried to their offices to decode cables received from Tokyo during the night.

It may be recalled that Former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson based his entire policy toward

Representative Blanton, Democrat of Texas, last night reported he had photostatic evidence that Hagood had been told he could testify "freely, fully and frankly."

He produced copies of letters from Secretary Dorn and Gen. Main Craig, chief of staff, the latter of which said the war department was placing "no restrictions whatever" on officers appearing before a house appropriations sub-committee.

Hagood Relieved
Monday Hagood was relieved of his command of the Eighth Corps Area and ordered home to "await instructions" following his designation of W.P.A. funds as "stage money."

"You'll see from these photostatic copies of the letter I sent the War Department and its reply furnished me by the department," Blanton said, "what an ass the War Department is making of itself in going back on its agreement."

"The officers mentioned by you," Craig wrote Blanton, on December 11, "who are to appear before you as witnesses, will be instructed by me in person that they are to answer you freely, fully and frankly and that there are no restrictions whatever placed upon their appearance before your committee by the War Department."

Blanton said other army officers besides Hagood gave evidence which was eliminated from the publisher record and he believed Hagood's testimony also "should have come out."

Rep. Henry C. Luckey, D., Neb., defended Hagood and said the house should "demand an investigation" and not "sit idly by and permit those who appear before our committees to be gagged by petty tyrants who today ride high in departmental offices."

Borah Speaks
At the same time another senator commented on the controversy. Presidential candidate, said: "I don't know the gentleman."

Gen. Bolles heard of the charge in Des Moines. He denied all interest in politics, explaining "I'm not in politics and don't care to be." War department officials said no complaint had been received against Bolles. There is an army regulation forbidding officers to engage in politics.

Hagood has been relieved of command of the 8th corps area headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. He recently told a congressional committee that works progress administration funds were "stage money." He has been sent home to "await orders" expected to arrive in about two years when he reaches the age of 64 and is automatically ordered to retire from active service.

Republican Exhibit
Republicans have taken Hagood as exhibit "A" in support of their charge that the Roosevelt administration is repressive and inclined to "terroristic" tactics to discourage adverse criticism. There was similar complaint this winter when the marine band was withdrawn from a women's patriotic meeting after a speaker had criticized the New Deal. The naval officers also cancelled their engagements to attend the meeting.

The general is not the first high ranking officer to be admonished or disciplined recently by a president. Assistant Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring was summoned to the White House woodshed a couple of years ago.

General Charles P. Summerall, then chief of staff, once stood on the White House carpet and took a scolding from the late Calvin Coolidge.

The irrepressible marine, Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, twice was in trouble with former President Hoover. And on at least one occasion Mr. Hoover's anger reached down to flick an obscure army lieutenant.

ANAHEIM PUTS $1000 LICENSE FEE ON AGENCY

doing nothing to question the legality of the establishment of the Continental Turf agency in Anaheim but are protecting the city from added expense of policing and any other hazards that might arise by insuring adequate income from the agency to cover such costs.

The ordinance introduced last night followed the receiving of a letter from Attorney-General Webb in explanation of the phrasing of the state amendment to the horse-racing act passed last year which makes bookmaking or pool room betting illegal but which authorizes the sending of bets by telephone or by telephone to the pari-mutuel machines within the track enclosure. Such a plan has been carried out by the Anaheim branch of the Continental Turf agency and therefore is legal.

The city ordinance now pending amends Ordinance 507 providing for the licensing of businesses, professions, shows, exhibitions and games. The amendment reads: "Every person, firm, corporation or association engaged in the business of representing a principal, who is not within a race track enclosure, for the purpose of making bets or wagers, within a race track enclosure, on horse races, under the pari-mutuel system, a license fee be, and is hereby fixed at the sum of $1000, payable semi-annually in advance."

"No license under this section shall be issued for any form of betting or wagering on horse races except as above provided, and except as lawful under the laws of the State of California. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to permit the licensing of any wagering or betting on horse races prohibited by the laws of the State of California...."

Councilmen explained that no pressure has been brought to bear in regard to the operation of the agency, but that they are anticipating added expense of policing by passing the ordinance before public opinion against the agency is aroused.

PRISON ENGRAVING PLANT DESTROYED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Federal authorities in San Francisco said today they had been informed that the San Quentin prison's photo-engraving plant, one of the sources of approximately $10,000 in prison-manufactured counterfeit $10 bills, has been destroyed on orders of the state board of prison directors.

Captain Thomas B. Foster of the U. S. secret service, meantime, revealed that he had warned prison officials that the engraving shop would be a counterfeiting menace at the time it was installed. Foster and other U. S. agents were largely responsible for rounding up the prison inmates and paroled convicts involved in the operations.

START JURY TRIAL IN HOMICIDE CASE

Jury trial of Richard Parr, Santa Ana youth who faces two counts of negligent homicide, based upon the deaths of Miss Frances West, Newport Beach school teacher, and her companion, Winston Walker, of Santa Ana, in an automobile wreck at Costa Mesa last December 15, was started today in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court.

Parr is accused of having driven his car negligently on the left-hand side of the highway, at the time of the collision with the car occupied by Miss West and Walker.

statemen were assassinated. It said: "Several young officers at 5 a. m. attacked the following places: 'Firstly, the premier's official residence, where Premier Okada was killed."

"Secondly, the lord privy seal's private residence, where Lord Saito was killed."

"Thirdly, the Army Educational Bureau's private residence, where Gen. Watanabe was killed."

"Fourthly, the hotel at the Yagawara Hot Springs, where the former lord privy seal, Count Makino, was staying. Count Makino was missing after he escaped the attackers."

"Fifthly, the grand chamberlain's official residence, where Admiral Suzuki was injured seriously."

"Sixthly, the finance ministry's private residence, where Minister Takahashi was injured."

Paper Destroyed
"Seventhly, the Tokyo Asahi Shinbun (the Asahi) could not publish this afternoon because its type was damaged."

"A declaration by those who uprose alleged that the genro and senior statesmen, financial heads, a clique of the army and political parties all joined in damaging the national policy."

"The declaration added that the officers intended to eliminate those named and lead the nation's destiny in the proper direction."

"An emergency state of alarm was ordered to maintain public peace."

There apparently was conflict in the information of the war office and the foreign office, because the latter had announced previously, and so called the Japanese embassy, that Takahashi was one of the three killed and Watanabe was wounded.

In addition to the news direct from Tokyo, information was given out by Japanese embassies abroad and by other reliable sources. The Moscow embassy announced that the rebels, who were members of the first division, had surrendered to loyal comrades of the same division.

The embassy said banks and houses in Tokyo and Osaka, which had been closed, were reopened under control of military police, but not martial law.

Japanese newspapers in Singapore said 80 persons were killed in the fighting.

Order Restored
The London embassy said complete order had been restored. The revolt was the outcome of many years of struggle between the army, which believes it should be the real ruler of the country, and the liberal element which insists on parliamentary government. The liberal trend of last Thursday's parliamentary election was the spark that set it off.

Expert observers of the Orient believed today's developments may bring a showdown, with either the liberals or the army emerging dominant.

If the army wins, Japan's militaristic program and aggressive policy in China may be expected to continue. If the liberals win, a more pacific policy in foreign affairs is to be expected.

Miles W. Vaughn, for nine years far eastern manager of the United Press, in commenting on the situation wrote that today's events eventually may prove the greatest liberal victory of all. He pointed out the Japanese are an orderly people devoted to the emperor above all else, and the emperor has demonstrated he stands for the constitution and parliament and resents efforts of the army to control his policies.

Led by Captain
A young, unknown army captain named Nonaka was named as leader of the coup. He was supported by troops from a regiment of the first infantry division garrisoned in Tokyo.

Dispatches which told of these events were subject to revision but they were from reliable sources and it was indicated that they told in bare outline the story of the coup.

Lat dispatches indicated the coup was confined to Tokyo and that after the first shock of assault the government acted firmly to suppress it.

The extremist patriots, it appeared, formed their forces at 5:20 a. m. (8:20 p. m. EST Tuesday). Their plans seemed to have been worked out with great precision, and dispatches indicated that they took the government by surprise.

By 5 p. m. (3 a. m. EST) dispatches reported the government again in control through a strict censorship continued and information came only from non-Japanese but reliable sources.

The coup was the answer to the parliamentary election of a group of men who hold that army must be paramount in national affairs, that the Emperor is the government, and that parliamentary rule is inefficient and un-Japanese—the delirium of the Fascist theory of the western world.

Guard Called Out
Though dispatches were not clear as to the means by which the reported suppression of the coup was effected, it was indicated that the emperor's own imperial guard was called out to suppress the men who revolted in pursuit of their ideal that the emperor is above everything.

It was regarded as certain that the civilian police remained loyal to the government. But they are not armed, except for one picked detachment, and would almost certainly have been helpless against well armed soldier rebels.

The revolt was not surprising. Several months ago Dr. Tatsukichi Minobe of the Imperial university, a constitutional authority, advanced the theory in a book that the emperor was but the highest organ of the government, not the government itself.

This theory shocked conservatives and enraged extremists. It became a political issue. The dominant Seiyukai party demanded that the government, which was supported chiefly by the less power-

"Male Order" menus will be the order of the day tomorrow, featuring a "Can't Miss" dinner consisting of roast pork roll savarin, German string beans, apple and raisin popover, steamed chocolate walnut pudding, and frozen cheese salad. Another menu for boys from six to 10 will include veal party, orange rolls, ritz cole slaw and strawberry Electrolux cake.

The feature of tomorrow's session will be the unique demonstration on modern, sanitary methods of meat cutting, to be staged by Manager Bill Truman and Arthur Madison, expert meat cutters of the McIntosh Meat Market in the Empire Market. An entire side of beef will be used in this demonstration, and after Truman has explained what cuts are best for each purpose, the cuts will be given away as special awards. The demonstration will start promptly at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

On Friday, the closing day, the feature of the class session will be the appearance of famous radio stars to be sent here by the Gaffers and Sattler company through arrangements with the Maroney Furniture store, Third and Sycamore streets. These stars will include Johnny Murray, master of ceremonies, Madame Pasquale, Jane Jones, Oscar and Elmer, the Blackbirds Nell Blank, Ruth Durell, famous songstress and many others.

While the attractive prizes are an added incentive for women to attend the cooking school sessions, the main reason capacity crowds are expected is because of the valuable information to be given by Mrs. Martens on methods of preparing tempting dishes economically. Mrs. Martens made a decided hit with Santa Ana women when she appeared on The Register cooking school program as instructor last fall.

Many local firms and organizations will join The Register and Southern Counties Gas company to make the school an outstanding event. The Maroney Furniture company at Third and Sycamore streets has been selected to furnish the Gaffers and Sattler Deluxe gas range and Hollywood Automatic Water Heater for Mrs. Martens' use. Maroney's also will furnish kitchen equipment to be used by the cooking expert. The Electrolux refrigerator will be furnished by the Russell Plumbing company.

Foods used by the expert will come from the Empire Market, Second and Broadway. The McIntosh Meat Market in the Empire Market will supply the meats.

The Empire Grocery will furnish groceries and fresh fruits and vegetables will come from the Quality Produce and Walker and Anderson vegetable markets in the Empire Market building.

Linda; Perry Mathis, Anaheim; Leland Smith, Placentia, with W. M. Smith, Brea, elected secretary-treasurer.

The bylaws of the new association were adopted and provide among other things that no salaried employee or director of any central marketing organization may serve on the board of directors of this organization.

It was pointed out by both Wallop, President Kammerer and many others that the purpose of this provision is not in any way discriminatory, but merely a means of keeping the organization officials free from affiliations, and to provide for a fair study of the situation.

The bylaws also provide for the board of directors to be made up of not only the present group, but, on complete organization, of a member from each citrus packing association in the county.

Outlines Purposes
In his outline of the purposes of the Orange County Citrus Growers association, Wallop indicated, first, "this is no effort to wreck the exchange, but an effort to organize orange growers to study marketing conditions."

He said the orange rancher has carefully kept in touch with all other phases of growing and packing oranges, but has paid very little attention to the marketing of his product.

In view of this, the investigation will include not only sale of the juice oranges, but the distribution setup including advertising, distribution to states between California and the Mississippi river; investigation of the auction market; chances of collusion between the marketing organizations and the auction markets; costs of the marketing organizations; salaries of the marketing organization personnel; the advisability of placing men on a commission basis, with the initial investigation "the grower control of the juice orange market," according to reports.

still exists a need for crop production loans to farmers whose cash requirements are so small that the operating and supervisory costs, as well as the credit risk, make credit unavailable to them at this time through the usual commercial channels and who, unless extended assistance of this character, would no doubt find it necessary to seek some other form of relief from the government.

"I fully agree with the congress that provisions should be made for such borrowers during the year 1936, but I feel that other borrowers should seek credit elsewhere."

"I am convinced that the immediate and actual needs to which I have referred can be met during the year 1936 by an expenditure of funds materially less than that proposed in the bill under discussion."

"Furthermore, these needs can be met, without the necessity of enacting authorizing legislation, through an allocation of funds by me from the appropriation provided in the emergency relief appropriation act of 1935, which appropriation, I am informally advised by the comptroller general of the United States, can be utilized by executive order to be desirable and necessary as relief measures."

"I believe, therefore, that a special appropriation by the congress at this time is both inadvisable and unnecessary. That being so, and in the absence of such legislation, I propose in order to meet this need to issue an executive order within the next few days."

In the house, Rep. John Taber, R., N. Y., vigorously attacked the president's failure to make recommendations to congress to meet an estimated $30,000,000 budget deficit for the next fiscal year.

The legal rate of interest established by law, Talmadge said, is 7 per cent and that rate will be charged the bank unless the funds are yielded.

ASSISTANTS NAMED TODAY BY SLEEPER

Nineteen deputy county assessors will go into the field next Monday, March 2, for the annual assessment of real estate and collection of personal property taxes, under the direction of County Assessor James Sleeper.

Sleeper will hold a school of instruction tomorrow, for his staff of deputies, preliminary to the actual assessment work.

Property owners were asked by Sleeper today to prepare and have ready for the deputy assessors, a list of their personal property, in order to "save the time of the deputy and thereby save money for themselves, as taxpayers."

He announced further that all automobiles will be liable for local taxes, unless the 1936 license plates have been obtained.

A new factor in the collection of personal property taxes this year, under the state income tax law, is the assessment of securities. The income tax law covers all stocks and bonds, but does not cover solvent credits, Sleeper explained.

He issued a list of property assessable as solvent credits, which are assessed under another method. The list includes all bank, building and loan, and other credits or deposits outside of California; all bank accounts, commercial or checking, in this state; all certificates of deposit; postal savings accounts (not postal savings bonds); accounts receivable, or book accounts; conditional sales contracts; annuities; claims; judgments.

Notes payable are not deductible from solvent credits, he states.

The field deputies will be assigned to various sections of the county, as follows:

A. R. Benson, Orange; Fred S. Chapman, Newport Beach; Glen L. Cramer, Costa Mesa-Serra; R. A. Craffee, Huntington Beach; C. R. Couden, Santa Ana; John Eley, Anaheim; John R. Fletcher, Villa Park; El Modena, Orange school district; O. K. Forsy, Santa Ana; L. L. Fuller, Fullerton; Robert Hatfield, Fullerton; S. Wayne Holt, Garden Grove-Katella; T. D. Knights, Santa Ana; W. C. McFarland, Placentia; John A. Newcomer, Santa Ana; Hugh J. Plumb, Tustin, San Juan Capistrano.

VOTING IN COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO BE GRANTED ONLY TO C. OF C. MEMBERS

Only delegates representing chambers of commerce will be entitled to vote in affairs of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, under the new constitution and by-laws as adopted last night at the monthly meeting in Garden Grove.

While delegates from the chambers of commerce are the only recognized active members of the organization, under the new constitution and by-laws, other civic organizations will be taken into the group as associate members. Delegates from these organizations will be entitled to all privileges with the exception of voting.

Under the new by-laws, as adopted, every chamber of commerce, regardless of the number of members, is entitled to three delegates. Chambers with a total membership not exceeding 50, will pay $5 as annual dues. Chambers with more than 50 and not more than 100 members will pay $10 and chambers with more than 100 members, $15. Associate member organizations will pay $5 annually.

The new constitution and by-laws also revises the list of officers by eliminating the vice-president. Under the new setup there will be a president and 14 executive directors. The secretary and treasurer will be appointed by the executive board.

Hasty action on any resolution or endorsement, in the future will be prevented under Article 7, Section 4 of the Constitution which provides that at least 28 days must elapse between the presentation of any resolution or endorsement, and action on the matter.

The entire meeting, last night, other than the time spent on voting on the constitution and by-laws, was devoted to discussing a program for making the highways safe for sane drivers. Chief of Police Floyd Howard of Santa Ana was the principal speaker and told of his plan for making drunken drivers a municipal rock pile.

In his address Howard said that it is time for the people to have less concern over criminals and violations of the law and pay more attention to the law abiding citizens.

He said he would like to see every drunken driver and reckless driver, who has no respect for the rights of others, to serve time on the highways.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday for Mrs. Flora McKee, 80, who died yesterday at her home, 217 South Sycamore street. Services will be conducted at the Smith and Tutill chapel with the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mrs. McKee, who had lived in Santa Ana for a quarter century, is survived by her husband, Dan McKee, and a half-brother in San Francisco.

MRS. FLORA MCKEETH DIES AT HER HOME

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday for Mrs. Flora McKee, 80, who died yesterday at her home, 217 South Sycamore street. Services will be conducted at the Smith and Tutill chapel with the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mrs. McKee, who had lived in Santa Ana for a quarter century, is survived by her husband, Dan McKee, and a half-brother in San Francisco.

Rock Pile Delayed
The county supervisors yesterday delayed action for two weeks upon the proposal of Santa Ana city officials for establishment of a rock pile, to which Santa Ana prisoners in the county jail could be sent, when convicted of drunken driving. Supervisor Jerome, the board's committeeman on the matter, asked for two weeks more time to consider a workable plan, by which the prisoners could be legally placed on the rock pile.

Meanwhile District Attorney W. P. Menton is studying the draft of a proposed resolution by the supervisors turned over to him yesterday by City Attorney L. W. Rhodgett, which would authorize the sheriff to place upon the rock pile such drunk-drivers as are sentenced with such recommendation from the committing magistrate. The rule would be made general for all county prisoners, but the recommendations would come only from Santa Ana.

No More Appraisers
An effort by Supervisor N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, to have expert appraisers appointed, to appraise the 80-acre tract of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Stanton, west of Anaheim, which is facing condemnation proceedings in superior court next Friday, failed when his motion did not receive a second. The supervisors some time ago had named a committee of appraisers for the purpose, consisting of H. G. Meiser, of Fullerton; Claude Ridgeway, of La Habra; and W. D. Smith, Laguna Beach.

The Stanton property is being condemned for the West Anaheim storm drain project.

Pay Judgment
A condemnation judgment of $1000, obtained by Albert Pryor, of Doheny Park, for land taken in the widening of highway 101 several years ago, will be paid under authority voted by the supervisors yesterday.

The Edison company was authorized to install a street light on Bluebird Canyon road, Laguna Beach, in the Laguna Beach Light District.

The purchasing agent was authorized to purchase a new car for the sheriff's office, an old 1931 model to be traded in on the new car.

GIRL SCOUTS WILL RECEIVE AWARDS
Girl Scouts of the city will receive their medals and badges for work accomplished during the past few months when they take part in a court of awards Friday night at 7 o'clock in First Christian church educational building.

Mrs. Percy Johnson of Claremont will present the awards, which will number more than 100, it was announced. Mrs. Ralph Lyman of Claremont will give a talk on "Scouting."

Mrs. Edwin McFadden is in charge of the program, which will be open to the public. Girl Scouts will enter the auditorium troop by troop, bearing their respective flags.

KELLEY TRIAL DEFENSE WILL BEGIN TODAY

As the prosecution completed presentation of its petty theft case against Charles S. Kelley, prominent local druggist, shortly after noon today, Attorney Otto Jacobs, representing Kelley, prepared to put several defense witnesses on the stand in Justice Morrison's court.

The morning session was taken up chiefly with testimony of D. H. Betten, special investigator employed by K-B Drug store officials to obtain evidence, if possible, against the druggist.

Betten testified he followed Kelley from the Fourth street drug store of which Kelley is manager, on January 21, 27 and 29 and on February 4, and that he saw the druggist enter an automobile with packages under his arms.

"On February 6, my assistant, H. C. Hall, myself and Under-sheriff F. A. Wilbur and Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey questioned Mr. Kelley as to what was in the packages and he said drugs and sundries which he bought and paid for at the drug store," Betten testified. "Roger McCarthy, Negro porter at the store, said he saw Mr. Kelley take a $5 bill from the store's cash register at one time," Betten said Kelley told him the money was taken from the register to make change.

The investigator and officers went to the Kelley home where they found several bottles and packages of drugs and sundries in a drawer, Betten said. Then they went to the Trading Post in Silverado canyon, near where Kelley owns property, and found drug supplies on the shelves. The prosecution sought to show that the drugs in the Trading Post, a retail store, came from the store of which Kelley is manager, Bet-ten said Hall bought a package of headache tablets as evidence. Three counts of petty theft against the druggist charge the $5 theft from the cash register and on January 27, eight tooth brushes, two jars of vaseline, two bottles of mouth wash, two bottles of rubbing alcohol and eight boxes of headache tablets, valued at $4.25 and found at the Trading Post, and a $15 truss table, August 28, 1935.

Attorney Jacobs declared Kelley's defense will be based on "the fact that Kelley took absolutely nothing from the store" which he did not pay for, Kelley said the prosecution is result of efforts to get him to resign from the drug store management.

MAN WHO SHOT COMPANION OF WIFE IS FREED

Charges of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder against Lorin Moore were dismissed yesterday by Justice of the Peace Hayden in Tustin township, on recommendation of the district attorney's office.

Moore was charged with assault after he is alleged to have fired a pistol bullet into the shoulder of Edward C. Wollert when he saw Wollert with his wife after a dance.

Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe asked for dismissal of the charge "in furtherance of justice" after Wollert had testified under oath that he had no desire to prosecute Moore.

CLOSE H. S. AT GARDEN GROVE DUE TO ILLNESS

Garden Grove High school was closed today for the rest of the week after absence due to severe colds and influenza ran to 25 percent for three consecutive days. According to school officials, it was decided to close the school for the rest of the week when it was revealed that the average absence for the past three days has been 80 students.

School officials said they did not know whether the total absence was caused by influenza or just severe colds. The plant will re-open Monday. The three grammar schools in the community had not closed today. Dr. K. H. Sutherland, Orange county health officer, said today the closing was due to an attendance problem and that while there were many severe colds there had been but little flu in the past 10 days.

Records at the county health department reveal that 109 cases of influenza have been reported there since February 1, as compared to the three cases reported during January. It was pointed out at the health department, however, that there are probably more cases in the county than have been reported to date.

At the offices of the county superintendent of schools it was said that several other schools in the county are considering the advisability of closing temporarily.

The Saturday meeting, starting at 2:30 o'clock, will take the place of the society's regular meeting March 6.

The program for the afternoon calls for two talks to the members of the society and others who care to attend. Mrs. F. E. Coulter, curator of the museum, will detail the general plan and purpose of the museum, and will give special attention to the Indian exhibit, which, according to archaeologists, is an exceptional exhibit.

T. E. Stephenson, president of the society, will present data concerning the Sepulveda, Pryor, Forster and Pico families, who are represented in historical exhibits in the museum.

CORNERED—

These mysterious men who have been crowding the dark corners of the Capitol for conferences the past few days are engaged on a minor matter.

It is not supposed to be mentioned aloud, but congress voted last year to pay the Philippines for a gold standard loss on dollar devaluation and lately discovered that the Philippines may not have been exactly on the gold standard.

At least, an eminent congressional banking authority, Senator Adams, has discovered that the so-called Philippine gold reserve was apparently in the form of silver and other dollar certificates deposited with American banks. He has quietly introduced a bill to withdraw the $23,000,000 payment authorization.

This has caused consternation. Government officials made reports to a senate committee last year recommending the payment. Unless these reports are returned of the Adams viewpoint is rejected by congress, they will look bad and feel worse.

At any rate, Senators are having $23,000,000 worth of fun watching the corner negotiations.

Note — The corner controversy also has been pushed less conspicuously into the White House itself. There, President Roosevelt is supposed to have looked at the quandary and observed: "Well, well." From that and other subsequent expressions, the advocates of the Adams repealer argue the president favored repeal.

SHY—

Confusing announcements which have been made about a new housing bill accurately reflect the complete misunderstanding underneath.

For instance, several interested officials poured out of a recent conference with the president. They announced the president had backed a bill carrying $250,000,000 to $400,000,000 annually. Next day the president said no decision had been reached. The third day one of the officials amended the announcement by saying the appropriation for the first year would be no more than 100,000,000 for slums clearance.

The second and third day announcements appear to have been the correct ones. For several good and sufficient reasons, the president apparently is against any such extensive housing program as Senator Wagner has been talking about. However, no announcement will be issued to that effect.

REFERENCES

It may not be true, and probably is not, but the diplomats here have been getting considerable enjoyment out of their inside story about Edward VIII's first message to parliament.

As you know, the king's speech comes from the throne, but the prime minister always reads it. In fact, he edits it beforehand. Mr. Baldwin was playing editor with the speech, which, in accordance with custom, is always liberally sprinkled with references to the problems and destiny of the empire and the supreme power controlling the lives of kings and men. At one point, Baldwin scribbled in pencil: "Refer to A. G." When the king's secretary received the speech back from Baldwin, he noted the reference and sent the particular passage to the attorney general. The latter spent several hours going through the passage and failed to find anything wrong. Next day he took it to Baldwin and asked specifically what legal point he had in mind.

"Oh," Baldwin is reported to have replied, "I did not mean you. I meant the king should make an appropriate reference at that point to Almighty God."

INNER GLIMPSES

Major General Hagood comes from an old South Carolina family accustomed to speaking out in meeting. His dismissal after calling WPA funds "stage money" is said by army men to have had a profound effect among those accustomed to speak more or less freely in the army, if there are any left.

Father Coughlin announced on the radio the other day that he is $80,000 in the red.

It may have been significant that the Hagood dismissal came a few days after Brigadier General Billy Mitchell, outspoken critic of the army air corps, was buried in Wisconsin instead of Arlington where less outspoken military heroes lie.

You can appreciate how Congressmen feel about the Townsend menace if you will consider the predicament of a prominent House leader. Some weeks ago, he was dismayed to find two Townsend candidates opposing him in the primaries. What dismayed him doubly later was the fact that one of them withdrew.

Had ex-Vice President Curtis lived a few weeks longer, he would have made his first speech of the 1936 campaign. He was slated to get $250 for a debate in an eastern city.

The Townsend investigating committee, on the whole, is stronger than the House average. At least three of the investigators rank as first class lawyers. Incidentally, Speaker Byrns had difficulty getting a committee. Several Congressmen refused to serve.

Congressional leaders were privately warned a few days ago to prepare themselves for an economy crack-down by the White House at any time.

The fact of inner New Deal coordination is hinted by the fact that while Sec. Commissioner Landis was telling Princetonians that people were buying too many stocks, Postmaster General Farley was telling Kansans that prosperity is here.

FADING—

Despite a superficial air of serenity, internal bickering has transformed Doctor Townsend's 50 congressional recruits into an armed camp with knives out for their top-sergeant. They are beginning to suspect that the old folks at home aren't the only ones who are being fooled by the $200-a-monthers.

The blue delivered a sharp ultimatum to R. E. Clements at their last secret session in downtown headquarters. They prepared for his signature a letter in which he agreed never to enter candidates against them. Although politically loyal Townsendsites, now, they're not sure when a threat of opposition might be used to line them up for some new and fancy twist in the doctor's scheme. Mr. Clements asked for time to think this one over. But the important fact is that the boys and girls who have openly declared and voted for the McGroarty bill are growing suspicious.

The tip-off on Dr. Townsend's weakness on Capitol Hill is the vote on the Bell resolution to investigate the pensioners' finances. Only three of his henchmen stood out against the "expose." Publicly Mr. Clements authorized his followers to get behind the proposal but privately he branded them as deserters. You can write it down that Congressional panic over the issue is disappearing except among a few die-hards.

PROGRAM—

New York Republicans aren't advertising the fact, but their delegate-at-large slate reveals that topnotch tacticians regard the bonus and prohibition as dead issues this year.

The Empire State strategists named four people who have voted against the veterans' payment at one time or another — Reps. Wadsworth, Snell and Bacon and ex-Rep. Ruth Pratt. Mr. Wadsworth was an organizer for the Association against the Prohibition Amendment and the American Liberty League. He headed the wet cause when only he and Al Smith dared to brave popular sentiment and lost out for Senate reelection in 1926 because the upstate dries knifed him.

The delegation is even more anti-Borah than most commentators realize, despite the public rebuke of "Ham" Fish, the Idahoan's New York spokesman. When Mr. Borah was at the height of his popularity in the middle twenties, the then Senator Wadsworth teamed with ex-Senator Reed of Pennsylvania to brand the westerner as a "fakir." They have barely spoken a friendly word since. Although New York's powerful group will go to Cleveland unharnessed, inside word is that their favorites are Governor Landon and Senator Vandenberg.

We wish we could do the IMPOSSIBLE

We wish, sincerely, that we could sell La Salle in the low-price field—for, then, almost everybody would buy a La Salle. But it simply isn't possible. La Salle is designed and built to be a fine car—and cannot compete in the low-price field. It is the lowest-priced quality car in the world—and we think it represents the greatest dollar value to be had anywhere. But it is strictly a fine car, and has to be sold as such.

MILLIONS OF POUNDS HAVE BEEN USED BY OUR GOVERNMENT

Sister Mary's Kitchen

BY MARY E. DAQUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Women who live near the sea coast make delicious and nourishing soups and stews from fish that are little known inland. Clam broth is easily digested and good for the invalid tray. It also makes an excellent first course for the mid-season dinner. There are many delicious brands of canned broth on the market and the busy home-maker will find them a valuable time saver. One tablespoon lemon juice added to the broth just before reheating improves the flavor for many persons. One tablespoon slightly salted whipped cream often is served on each cup of broth. A poached egg dropped on each cup of broth turns it into a hearty luncheon dish for a cold day. A combination of clam and tomato makes a delicious rich bisque to serve for luncheon.

Chowder Nourishing as Stew
Clam chowder is another nourishing dish that can be prepared in the home kitchen or purchased in cans. Fish chowders are almost a meal in themselves and compare favorably with meat stews in nourishment.

Lemon Sponge Pie
One and one-fourth cups granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 1 cup water, 1 large lemon, plain pastry.

Line a deep pie dish with plain pastry. Mix and sift sugar, flour and salt. Rub in butter and add grated rind of lemon. Add lemon juice and mix thoroughly. Add water and beat with a rotary beater. Beat whites of eggs on a platter with a wire whisk until stiff. Fold into first mixture and into pastry-lined pie dish. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for ten minutes to bake the crust and then reduce heat and bake forty minutes longer in a slow oven.

POMPEIAN OIL FIRM USES GOOD OLIVES

The first pressing produces only 25 per cent of an olive's oil but that's all that is good enough to be sold under the Pompeian label. Pompeian is pure and unadulterated, and comes to you just as it flows from the olive.

Twice Pompeian has been awarded gold medals in international competition. Pompeian also bears the Good Housekeeping Seal of approval. It is recommended by more than 9000 American physicians for kitchen and medical use.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Feb. 26.—A group of young people from the La Habra Christian church attended a Southern California Christian Endeavor rally at the Petterly avenue Christian church in Los Angeles which was attended by about 280 representatives from other churches. In the group from La Habra were Saradine Ballard, Betty Brady, Claudia, Fern and James Jones, G. B. Gordon and Jack Brewster.

Ethel Mae Wiede was the honoree Saturday evening when her mother, Mrs. L. E. Wiede, entertained with a birthday supper, honoring her on her 19th birthday anniversary. Turquoise blue pottery was used and a yellow and white birthday cake completed the color motif for the affair. Guests were Monteen Hipolite, Frances Schneider and June Wiede. Following the dinner the group attended the J. C. basketball game at Riverside, accompanied by Mr. Wiede.

WELCH GRAPE JUICE SUGAR CONTENT EVEN

Nature seldom raises two crops in succession which are identical. This is especially true of Concord grapes. The natural constituents of grapes vary from year to year. The sugar content is perhaps the greatest variable.

For this reason, the Welch Grape Juice company has ample storage room in its cool cellars, so that blending of the juice is possible. And, with skillful chemical analysis to point the way, add just the right amount of sugar to maintain a uniform product (which nature does not produce).

This is important to the users of Welch's grape juice—to some it is of very great importance.

Physicians can rely upon the Welch product. They must know just what they are prescribing, especially for certain illnesses, such as diabetes. Here it is all important that the individual receive a uniform carbohydrate ration. One of the foremost diabetic specialists in the United States says: "This is of value to me—to know that when Welch's grape juice is used, the patients can count on obtaining the same percentage of sugar from time to time."

Dietitians know that in placing Welch's on the menu the caloric value remains uniform. Trainers of famous football squads, runners and other athletes must know that the energy value of Welch's remains constant.

It is interesting to note that while the added sugar is in the form of cane sugar (sucrose), yet before the bottle juice reaches the consumer all, or most of the small amount of added sugar becomes "inverted"—that is—changed to dextrose and levulose, both known as "simple" sugars ready for absorption by the blood stream.

Welch's is the best in grape juice, made under laboratory-controlled technical supervision, certified pure pasteurized, and guaranteed by the original and oldest grape juice manufacturing company in the world.

IRIS COFFEE JARS KEEP FLAVOR FRESH

Being packed fresh is only part of the story behind coffee quality and flavor—the ability to keep the freshness and flavor sealed in from one meal to the next is another part, and a very important one. In this particular, iris coffee vacuum-packed in attractive glass jars, offers the ideal means of insuring coffee freshness from the time the container is first opened until the last bit is used.

Iris coffee is vacuum-packed in these useful glass jars which have patented screw caps which reveal the jars after each using. By this method, one is always certain that the coffee is kept fresh constantly, and its full, rich flavor always maintained. Air, the enemy of coffee freshness, is kept out of iris coffee by the simple expedient of making the iris jar air-tight from one meal to the next by replacing the screw cap.

"A1" SAUCE WAS GIVEN NAME BY BRITISH KING

Historical romance is draped all around "A1" sauce—featured at The Register cooking school—for it dates back to the reign of George IV of England, who authentic records give credit for naming this delicious product. The best known and largest selling thick sauce in every quarter of the civilized world for more than 100 years, "A1" today enjoys its greatest popularity.

Made from the choicest fruits vegetables and spices, "A1" is scientifically blended to produce a distinctive character and a perfectly balanced delicacy of flavor without destroying the natural vitamins of the ingredients. Its uses on the table and in the kitchen are almost unlimited—served with all meats, fish, fowl, game, beans, cheese dishes, tomato juice and many other goods—indispensable for the proper flavoring for soups, gravies, meat loaves, cocktail sauces, etc.

Because of these qualities it has enjoyed continuous and constantly increasing approval of the American public since its introduction here over 30 years ago, and has become almost a necessity in every well ordered home, hotel and restaurant. In America, "A1" is a Heublein product.

The Leader Will Be on the Stage

The New, 1936
ELECTROLUX
Gas Refrigerator

The favorite automatic refrigerator of women throughout Southern California, will be used in the model kitchen, on the stage during each day of the cooking school conducted by this newspaper.

We say it is the favorite because for more than two years it has led the field in sales of all automatic refrigerators in this section of the country.

For Electrolux, the gas refrigerator, has all the qualities which thrifty women demand in the refrigerator they buy for their own kitchens.

Economy, unequalled, is one of the important reasons which have made Electrolux the leader in automatic refrigerator sales. The operating cost in the average home is approximately two cents a day—a saving which will go far toward meeting the small payment each month, if you desire to purchase your Electrolux on the easy terms available at local dealers or through the gas company.

Silent in its operation, Electrolux provides dependable, continuous cold and the consequent assured safety of your family's food supply entrusted to its care.

Beautifully finished—inside and outside—Electrolux provides the utmost in attractive appearance, convenience in shelf arrangement and thoughtful placing of storage facilities.

Favorite of modern women, for many reasons, you will see Electrolux in actual use at the cooking school under conditions far more trying than will be found in any ordinary kitchen.

HARRY GRAYSON

Leach Cross, the old lightweight, is a dentist in New York. Seven million fans in Indiana watch basketball every year, reports Piggy Lambert, Purdue coach, which goes to show you what cage filters the Hoosiers are. Colonel Bradley, the big horse man, runs two newspapers in Palm Beach, Fla. The Chicago White Sox have a husband and wife acting as scouts. They are Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lambert. The Chicago Black Hawks' hockey team has averaged nearly 10 sticks a game this year, having used 215 in 32 contests. Rogers Hornsby is going to give Al Thomas, a free agent in 1935, a chance to pitch for the St. Louis Browns this season. It costs big league clubs to train. Eddie Meads is in San Francisco with three boxers. The returned manager's Paul Pirovano engages Fred Apostoli there Friday. Tom Casey, Chicago Cub pitcher, is one of the best dual wrestlers in Georgia. The Oklahoma Aggies have lost only one dual wrestling meet since 1921. Vitanen, Lehtinen, Iso-Hollo, Richard and Kuscinski, great distance runners of the day, all use Paavo Nurmi's style in varying degrees.

Joe Stecher and Earl Caddock, former world heavyweight wrestling champions, are still among those present. Both operate farms not far apart in Iowa. Ching Johnson, Boston Bruin's hockey star, has spent 28 weeks out of nine seasons in the hospital from injuries received in National league games. Patty Berg's best golf shot is out of the sand. The 18-year-old Minneapolis miss' worst is the second shot to the green. Lyle Judy, the St. Louis Cardinals' sensational baseball star, suffered home 16 times last season. Chicago Cubs' rookie catcher is named Harold Suenne. You go ahead and do it. The smallest man on Jimmy Kitts' Rice Institute cage team is 6 feet 2 inches—and the largest, 6 feet 7½. Joe Shugrue, one of the few fighters who knocked out Benny Leonard, now is a truant officer in New Jersey. A new golf device, worn on the wrist, acts like a carpenter's level and clicks if your swing is just right. George Lutz, pro tennis player, is wearing glasses on his current tour through the west. Larry McPhail, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, predicts that all big league clubs will be using airplanes to ship their players around within five years. Jimmy Braddock has put on 20 pounds since he won the crown from Max Baer. Now hitting the dial at 210.

Dean Cromwell, Southern California track coach, believes that one of his pole vaulters, Lee Meadows or Bill Soofon, will clear 14 feet 6 inches in the Olympic Games. Hal Schumacher's 1936 contract with the Giants calls for $18,000, a grand more than he made last season. Gilbert Reichert, center on the House of David basketball team, is 8 feet 1 inch tall, weighs 365 pounds, and wears a size 23 shoe. Ray Noble, center on the University of Kansas' cage squad, is the champion vaulter of the Big Six. George Selkirk, the man who succeeded Babe Ruth in the Yankees' right field, vows that neither Joe DiMaggio, the west coast rookie, nor Roy Johnson, obtained from the Senators will oust him from his position this season. No wonder Johnny Moir, Notre Dame sophomore cage star, is so good at counting baskets. He holds a grade of 97 in accounting. Attilio Sabatino, Puerto Rican middleweight, recently arrived in the United States after a four-year campaign in Europe, already has started yelling for a wreck at Babe Risko's crown. The Boston Braves of last year ain't what they used to be. Only three of the 1935 mound staff remain for duty this season—Ben Cantwell, Bob Smith and Dan MacFay. Johnny Tonnoff, new Giant catching recruit just graduated from the University of Illinois, is a Bulgarian. It appears that there will be no Harnsworth trophy races this year. Deadline for filling a challenge against Gar Wood is March 1, and no boat is in sight capable of giving the Detroit a run for the honors he first won back in 1920.

JACKETS, BENGALS BEGIN CAGE SERIES

Riverside makes another bid for its first Eastern conference basketball title tonight when Fullerton's champions invade the Bengal gym for the first of a two-out-of-three game playoff series. The second contest will be held Saturday night at Fullerton.

As the Bengals scored a 33-31 victory over Coach Art Nunn's gang last Saturday in a regularly scheduled league tussle, the mighty men of Jesse Fortensen rule in the favorites' spot to annex the title—possibly in two straight games.

However, it is reported that the Fullerton team was not in the best of condition Saturday as they had just returned from a snow party.

Four times in five years Riverside has been in the post-season playoffs but each time have succumbed either to Fullerton or Chaffey.

PROPOSED INTERNATIONAL HORSE RACE Stars Sign Pitcher Lyle Morse

LONG BEACH TO ASK ONE-YEAR BYE IN LEAGUE

Guaranteeing them one of the outstanding pitching stars in night baseball, Santa Ana's staff today had signed Lyle Morse, according to reports received by The Register.

Club officials neither would deny nor affirm the story. Manager George Lackaye was out of the city.

Morse is the former Garden Grove high school youth (he was a teammate there of Jimmy Coates, now Santa Ana's ace gunner) who last summer twirled Olive to the championship of the Orange County Night League, outpitching Rudy Montgomery in a thrilling playoff series. Morse struck out 21 in one of the games.

Last year Santa Ana stumbled through their National league schedule, and its dramatic aftermath with Huntington Beach, with only one reliable moundman, Coates. Jim worked wonders but there were times when the club wanted to give him a rest but couldn't.

Although virtually untested in National league company, Morse is a clinch to get by in fast company, all scouts agree. Like Coates, he is a "stuffy" pitcher rather than a fast-ball specialist.

The much discussed "merger" of the Long Beach and Anaheim National league clubs is almost certain to be consummated.

A commission favorable to such a policy was reappointed by Anaheim's city council last night. E. M. Keath, manager of the Penney store, was named to succeed Jimmie Heffron, who is hospitalized.

Charles Pearson, Joe Elliott, Frank Tausch and R. Nyboe remain on the board.

Anaheim's baseball moguls will meet a week from Friday to formally approve the Long Beach deal, it is said.

The idea is for Long Beach, now devoid of grounds, to ask the league for a year's bye. Billy Feistner, Long Beach manager, then will move to Anaheim as business manager, taking what outstanding players Anaheim needs in its reconstruction scheme.

A TOE TOUCH

...and you STOP

OIL-HUSHED to a sigh of silence under Buick's style-tapered bonnet, a great-powered valve-in-head engine waits to unleash a torrent of action at your command.

There's thrill in it—and triumph over time and distance. But more important—there's eyewink obedience.

Teamed up with this ables of driving forces is the newest and most highly perfected system of hydraulic brakes.

The quickest of stops is velvet smooth under their self-energizing action. On the wettest of streets there will be no slewing, no swerves, for they are automatically self-equalizing.

Their action has the smoothness of a closing hand, increasing its grasp steadily to the maximum. Their steel-tensioned grip would halt a heavy truck, but it takes only a touch of a daintily-shod toe to put them into action. We call them "tiptoe hydraulics," and how apt the name is you'll never know until you drive a Buick and sample for yourself their softness and their velvet command.

The first few times you sit behind a Buick wheel, you may find yourself traveling faster than you think. No car is more buoyantly smooth in its power-flow, more deceptively effortless in its swift flight.

But no car is more surely under control at all times—quicker, smoother, easier in its stopping. If you must drive with an eye on the passing minutes, do so in a Buick which matches engine eagerness with tiptoe braking sureness, offsets high-spot go-ability with dependable stop-ability.

$765 to $1945 are the list prices of the new Buicks at First, Mich., subject to change without notice. Standard and special accessories groups on all models at extra cost. All Buick prices include safety glass throughout as standard equipment.

6% New money-saving GMAC time payment plan. Compare Buick's low delivered prices and low Monthly Payments.

HERE, IN NON-WARPING, heat-dispersing cast iron drums machined with hair-line precision into perfect round, the pressure of your foot on the light-acting Buick brake pedal takes hold with multiplied force. Linings are woven—not molded. Fluid-tubes are steel, not copper, and are tested to 300 pounds pressure before leaving the factory. The shoe always maintains full contact with the drum, regardless of mileage. There is no loss of effective braking surface due to uneven wear often encountered in hydraulic brakes of the conventional type.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

TO San Juan Teotihuacan, 27 miles east of Mexico City, go tourists to view the mysterious ruins of ancient temples and monuments, ascribed to the age of the Toltecs, from 1000 to 1400 years ago. To this same spot, about the beginning of the 16th century, came the Spanish conquistadores, who tore down the paintings, statues and edifices that these ancient Indians had built.

Today, excavations are restoring the Toltec civilization around Teotihuacan. Already the mighty "Pyramid of the Sun" has been revealed, and not far distant a smaller "Pyramid of the Moon." According to legend, the Pyramid of the Sun once was a huge temple abode of the gods, and was surmounted by a gigantic statue of the Sun God carved from a single block of porphyry and bearing a breastplate of pure gold.

The structure is shown on the three-cent stamp of Mexico issued in 1923.

HOLLYWOOD HAPPENINGS

By PAUL HARRISON, Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 26.—The Dionne quintuplets are just about the only persons who ever acted as stars in major roles of a feature production and never had to rehearse.

Director Henry King is going around congratulating himself that the production will be ready for release so soon. With a little bad luck, he and his company of players and technicians still might be quartered at the hotel in North Bay.

Part of the picture, as you know, was taken at Callander, North Bay, and in the babies' private hospital.

Thanks to Dr. Dafoe Dr. Dafoe gets most of the credit for speedy completion of the shooting in Ontario. He forced the movie people to make haste slowly. At the outset, he announced that there was going to be not the slightest interruption in the babies' routine of sleep, feeding, and play. And there wasn't.

"The quins woke up about 5 a. m.," said the director, "were fed and went back to sleep. They were supposed to wake again at about 11 and play until noon, when they were to be fed and allowed to go to sleep again."

"Our time for shooting was supposed to be that play hour before noon. But there wasn't any alarm clock in the hospital. Sometimes the youngsters slept until 11:20, or whenever they were good and ready to go to work. Dressing them took more time, and there were days when we had only five or six minutes to photograph them."

"All of us had to wear sterile gowns in the nursery, and nobody with even a suspicion of a cold was allowed inside. If one of the principals had taken cold, we'd probably be there yet."

"There was no compromising on the mornings when we got a late start. That was just our tough luck. Many a time I'd have a scene half finished and the cameras rolling, and I'd see the doctor signalling me that it was 12 o'clock. So we'd have to quit and take down all our equipment."

Real Actors Flustered

Only the adult cast required rehearsals, though, and those were held in the hotel in the afternoons. So most of the rare minutes in the nursery were actual shooting time, and five reels of film were used. At that, the quins still are the world's highest-paid actresses, considering the short intervals they spent before the camera.

Jean Hersholt, the Country Doctor in the picture, and Dorothy Peterson, the nurse, both are seasoned trouper.

"But the first day we worked, those two couldn't remember any of their lines in the presence of the kids," King recalled. "They said that holding the quins in their arms was the most trying experience of their lives."

"They couldn't have been more frightened if they had been facing five hungry lions. I mentioned this to the doctor. He said, 'Well, they were facing five very strong personalities!'"

New Friends

Hersholt and the director both became fast friends of Dr. Dafoe, and spent most of their evenings in his library. They correspond regularly now and the actor sends books to Callander.

As soon as it can be prepared, King will send a 16-mm. film of the finished production for the doctor's prized projection machine.

Appeal Made For Toys To Be Repaired

With work starting today on the new Works Progress Administration furniture and toy repairing project, Fred P. Jayne, chief of the PTWW division of WPA in Orange county, today issued an appeal for donations of old toys and furniture which can be repaired and repainted and distributed to needy families.

The toy and furniture repair project will be located at 1248 South Main street, where until this time the sewing project has been located, Jayne announced. The sewing project will be moved into the upper floor of the Flag building at 1141-2 North Broadway. Work started today tearing down partitions for the new sewing project quarters.

A crew of men started work today getting the toy and furniture project rooms ready for operation of the project, which is expected to be in full swing in about two weeks. The project will employ 34 men and 16 women at a cost of $31,387 to WPA and $2774 to the sponsor.

Toys of all kinds are needed to start work on the project, Jayne said, and residents of Orange county were urged to telephone Jayne at WPA offices here if they have any toys to donate. The toys will be picked up and taken to the project headquarters for repair and distribution to children who would enjoy them.

EXPECT TO END COUNTY CENSUS FOR BUSINESS

William J. Brand, supervisor of the Census of Business, today announced that an effort is being made to finish the canvass in Orange county and environs with the next few days. He asked that all business firms cooperate by furnishing the necessary census information as quickly as possible.

"We realize that some firms require more time than others in assembling the information," Mr. Brand said, "but it is imperative that the reports be sent to Philadelphia without delay so that the statistics can be compiled and issued by July."

"The timeliness of such statistics," he added, "greatly enhances their value. More than 5,000,000 reports must be handled by the Bureau, and delay in filling out these reports delays the statistics for the entire State."

"The inquiries have been made as simple as possible, he continued, "to make the task of supplying the information easy, and have been shaped to secure facts that will be of maximum value to business."

Mr. Brand declared that the census now being taken is a continuation of the regular business census work of the bureau of the census, and is for business use, not for governmental purposes. Its scope is the result of requests from business organizations, and it has the full support of all branches of business.

He reiterated previous assurances that all enumerators and other persons connected with the census are under oath not to disclose or discuss any information submitted for census purposes, and that under the census law no access to individual reports is permitted, not even to other governmental, state or local agencies, and no information will be disclosed which would in any way reveal the facts or figures given in the returns.

"The census bureau expects," he said, "to publish the results for this state by July 1st unless there is delay in obtaining the relatively few reports still out. Since the first census was taken, the nationwide publicity, and comparisons with the previous census will show such a healthy increase in business, we want nothing to delay the canvass here."

Only One Low Priced Car is FIRST in Everything That Counts

...TERRAPLANE

—JUST COMPARE—
THIS with THIS

- Terraplane alone among all popular low priced cars gives you this:
- Full 115-inch wheelbase.
 - 195 inches over-all length.
 - Most power—88 or 100 horsepower—with freedom from vibration at all speeds.
 - Body all of steel, with seamless roof of solid steel.
 - Most inside room—145 cubic feet—more leg and shoulder room, and widest rear seat.
 - Completely new style—best insurance of the investment value of your car.
 - The only rear opening baggage and tire compartment on 5 and 6-passenger models that can be had in any low priced car without extra cost. Spare tire lies flat inside.
 - Duo-Automatic Hydraulic Brakes (patent applied for), two braking systems operating automatically from one brake pedal. And a third braking system from the easiest operating parking brake in the world.
 - Extra deep "V-type" windshield—for added beauty and wider vision.
- In every other popular low priced car this is what you get:
- 2 to 6 inches less wheelbase.
 - 5 to 12½ inches less over-all length.
 - 3 to 18 less horsepower than Terraplane's 88—and not nearly as smooth.
 - Body only partly of steel—or steel body with "soft-top."
 - Less inside room—less shoulder and leg room—narrower rear seats.
 - 1935 styling, changed only in details. Far more likely to be out of date by 1937.
 - No rear opening baggage and tire compartment, except in cars where trunk models are available—at considerable extra cost. Spare tire mounted outside on all other models.
 - Single main braking system—either hydraulic or mechanical—without complete reserve braking system and without Terraplane's type of easy acting parking brakes.
 - Nothing like Terraplane's deep "V-type" windshield in any other low priced car.

The list of Terraplane advantages doesn't stop with those listed here. There's greater ruggedness, proved by owner mileages of 125,000, 150,000 and more. Greater economy, too, certified by thousands of sworn owner statements... emphasized again just the other day in the Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run when a Terraplane averaged 23.95 officially certified miles per gallon over a tough 352 mile stretch on mountain roads.

And dozens of other features... all at a price down with the lowest for the model you want. Come in and see and drive a Terraplane.

COLD WEATHER CAUSES ORANGE SALES TO DROP

Unusually cold weather throughout the United States and Canada made the January orange market disappointing, according to word received here today from the California Fruit Growers Exchange.

From January 23 to 30 as many as 12 auction sales were cancelled because of extremely low temperatures, the report said, and in private sales markets it was too cold to open cars for inspection for fear of freezing the fruit. In some cases railroads refused to haul to the destinations cars that had been sold, due to practical certainty of freezing.

"Such paralyzing cold," the report said, "accompanied in many cases of heavy snowfall, obviously made normal traffic impossible. Country roads were impassable to trucks and rail distribution was severely hampered; so that distribution to smaller markets from the large central distributing points was greatly curtailed."

Orange Sizes

"Then, too, central-northern fruit averaged exceptionally large in size, which proved a decided disadvantage from a marketing standpoint, as the fewer dozens per box, the higher must be the consumer price per dozen to make a profitable transaction. As Southern California fruit ran to the opposite extreme, there was left only a comparatively small proportion of the more desirable medium sizes in California markets."

"Navel shipments from central-northern California were completed in January. The crop was lighter than average and not much more than one-half of the record breaking production of the preceding year. Average f.o.b. returns on the crop per dozen, however, were 40¢ above a year ago, 20¢ above two years ago when the crop was even lighter than the present crop, and 52¢ above three years ago."

"Adverse marketing conditions, coupled with slow maturity, held

Surprise Affair Marks 76th Anniversary

Monday, February 24, was the 76th birthday anniversary of Mrs. A. C. McCullough, who was commemorated at a little surprise party Saturday in her home, 607 East Sixth street.

Participants in the pleasant affair were the celebrant's son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Nida and sons, Eugene and Clarence, of Gardena, and grandchildren, Mildred, Eleanor and Earl McCullough, of Santa Ana, Eugene Nida, a student at U. C. L. A., was home for an overnight stay.

Birthday cake and other dainties were served by Mrs. Nida at the afternoon's close.

Towel Shower Provides Pleasant Surprise For Bride-elect

Miss Helen Stover, who in June will become the bride of Earl Royer, a member of the Fremont school staff in Anaheim, found herself the honoree at the latest meeting of the Mothers and Daughters' association of Church of the Brethren, in the church parlors.

Apparently it was the customary session of the group, conducted by the president, Mrs. Walter C. Dunlap. Program features were in patriotic vein, with Mrs. Dunlap giving a reading, "Crossing the Bridge," followed by a reading on George Washington by Miss Bertha Baker.

Surprise features of the affair developed swiftly at the conclusion of the program, and Miss Stover was showered with towels in every variety, with Mrs. Theron Cooney of Anaheim presenting the gifts on behalf of the assembled guests.

Miss Ada Teter, Miss Vivienne Wyne, Mrs. Jay Meyers and Mrs. Marguerite Corbett formed the hostess committee arranging for the serving a coffee and gingerbread topped with whipped cream. The pleasure of this interval was increased by Mrs. Meyers' clever readings, "In the Usual Way" and "A Violin Fantasy."

Present with the honor guest, Miss Stover, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Stover, were Mesdames J. W. Baker, Arlie Baker, Charles Baker, Ralph Teter, Paul Baker, Roy Teter, Theron Cooney, William Teter, E. S. Teter, Paul Teter, Odelle Jordan, Herman Landis, Gorman Rensberger, Glean Anderson, James Hill, Walter Dunlap, Marguerite Corbett, Arthur Hoover, Jay Meyers, the Misses Bertha Baker, Altae Mae Teter, Alberta Hoover, Ruth Ellen Dunlap, Mae Hickey, Eula Hickey, Mary K. Grand Officer to Visit Native Daughters

Santa Ana parlor Native Daughters of the Golden West will entertain Grand President Ann C. Thueson of San Francisco on her official visit to the group March 9 at 6:30 p. m. in Veterans hall.

Plans for the event were furthered Monday night at a meeting in Knights of Columbus hall with Mrs. J. H. Gray presiding. Members practiced in readiness for the work which they will put on for Mrs. Thueson on her visit to the parlor. The exhibition will follow the serving of a turkey dinner, it was announced.

Following this week's meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Mattie Edwards.

Surprise Party Held On Postponed Date

Disappointed in their plans to celebrate the February birthday anniversary of Mrs. H. A. Gerrard on the date itself, because of the illness of their honoree, members of the congregation of the Orange Avenue Christian church held the deferred observance after church services Sunday night.

Almost two score members motored from the church to the Gerrard home, 2009 Victoria Drive, taking their hostess completely by surprise. An evening of music, community singing and friendly chat followed, with two special features introduced by the guests. The first of these was presentation to Mrs. Gerrard of a large basket of birthday gifts, all articles chosen for use in the Gerrard summer cabin at Forest Home.

The final surprise of the evening was the serving of coffee and home-made cakes brought by the guests.

National Y. W. Worker To Be Here in March

Preliminary plans for Orange county conferences to be conducted in March by Miss Edith Sawyer, national Y. W. C. A. secretary, were made yesterday when association leaders of Orange, Fullerton and Santa Ana met in this city.

In the group were Miss Mary W. Howard and Miss Mary Porter, Y. W. and Girl Reserve secretaries, and Miss Mabel McFadden, Santa Ana Y. W. president; Mrs. Percy Green and Mrs. C. H. Robinson, Orange; Miss Edna Munford, Mrs. A. Redfern, Fullerton.

It is expected that Miss Sawyer will visit northern Orange county March 12; Santa Ana, March 13; and conduct a joint meeting of the north and south divisions March 14.

Neighborhood Club Has Meeting in Anaheim

Several couples from this community were in Anaheim recently for a meeting of the Neighborhood club, with Mr. and Mrs. William Hutton as hosts in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Wilson scored high in bridge games, which were followed by an enjoyable refreshment interval. Decorations were in keeping with a patriotic theme.

Present were Messrs. and Mesdames L. R. Stearns, Walter West, Fred L. Wilson, Herbert Walker, H. Coate, all of this community; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Taylor, Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Young and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Hutton, Anaheim.

Mr. and Mrs. West will be hosts at the March meeting.

Hostess Honors Miss Boyd, Soon Leaving For Redlands

Regret that the community is to lose, even temporarily, such a well known family as Dr. J. P. Boyd and his sister, Miss Rosa Boyd, was mingled with good wishes for the success of the new home to be established in Redlands, when Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson yesterday assembled in her home, 1522 North Broadway, a group of Miss Boyd's close friends for a friendly cup of tea with her before her early departure.

Friends have been aware for some time that Dr. Boyd has not been in his usual health, so decision to make a change to the higher altitude of Redlands, came as no surprise to those closely connected with the family. But everyone is going to miss the genial southern hospitality that so long has distinguished the Boyd home at 801 North Main street, although grateful for the fact that modern methods of travel have eliminated distance, so that pleasant reunions in the new home in Redlands already are being anticipated.

"Said With Flowers" To the charm of the Stephenson home yesterday was added the glow and color of many flowers, and especially were those sent Miss Boyd, a matter of course. For corsage clusters of geraniums and of pale orchid sweet peas were thoughtful gifts of various friends, including Miss Boyd Joplin, Mrs. Braden Finch and Terry Stephenson Jr. They were so lovely individually that a choice between them would have been impossible. Mrs. Stephenson, with her usual resourcefulness, solved the problem by suggesting that they be twined into a lei. The effect on the gold metal cloth tunic which Miss Boyd wore with black crepe, was quite charming. No less effective were the pale pink carnations which Mrs. Stephenson wore with her coffee colored lace gown.

Miss Muriel Snyder, a niece of the home, graceful in apple-green lace, received guests at the door. Assisting through the rooms were Miss Boyd Joplin, Mrs. Edmund West and Mrs. Bradford Hellis. Guests were privileged also to make the acquaintance of a young cousin of Miss Boyd's, Mrs. Braden Finch. Her recent arrival to make her home in Santa Ana, adds another to the long list of cousins and nieces, some adopted and some by blood, who delight in the relationship with Dr. and Miss Boyd.

At Tea Hour Friends lending aid throughout the afternoon included Mrs. Clarence Crookshank, who presided as dining room hostess. The table quite a charming study in pink, white and silver, glowed with sweet peas. Early in the afternoon, Mrs. William H. Spurgeon and Mrs. Clarence Gustin had charge of the silver coffee urn and the Irish Belleek tea service. Later they surrendered their places to Mrs. Robert Northcross and Mrs. Sam W. Nau, Mrs. Hellis and Miss Joplin passed the various dainties of the menu.

Dr. and Miss Boyd will leave for Redlands Saturday. They have secured a charming home there, with a garden already in bloom with flowers and generously endowed with fruit trees in wide variety.

Surprise Event Honors Birthday Celebrant

Mrs. J. E. Bingle was hostess at a surprise affair recently in her home, 1415 West Fourth street, honoring her husband on the occasion of his birthday anniversary. Mrs. Bingle is the former Helen Hanegan of Inglewood.

The birthday celebrant arrived home in the evening to find friends assembled in his honor. He was showered with gifts. Decorated cakes lighted with candles were served with ice cream.

Present with Mr. and Mrs. Bingle were Mr. and Mrs. Forest Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Inman, Mr. and Mrs. F. Castello, and Mrs. S. F. Heffernan, Inglewood; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Shields and children, Dorothy and Colleen, Belmont Shore; Frank Clark, Mr. and Mrs. G. Racefeller, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Strenberg, Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, Mr. and Mrs. John Poach, Mrs. Ethel McGuire, Mrs. Clemens of Wintersburg; Mr. and Mrs. W. Williams, Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. George Enns, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Lawrence, Huntington Park; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Buttriss, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Nonis Stone, Mrs. Caroline Rasmussen, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. L. White, Santa Bernardino; Harry and Helen Hanegan, Norwalk; Mrs. Maxine and Paul Bingle, of the home.

Sorority Showers Gifts on Spring Bride-elect

Latest in the bridal showers shared by that interesting group of young people in Beta Sigma Phi sorority was an affair complimenting Miss Caroline M. Smith, whose marriage to Sam W. Cash will take place Easter Sunday. Miss Elsie Siemsen's home, 1810 North Main street, was setting for the sorority meeting which was climaxed with party features coming as a complete surprise to the honoree.

Miss Smith's "secret sister" in the sorority had planned the shower, sending the bride-elect a beautifully wrapped package topped with a gardenia corsage. This was signal for presentation of a larger box filled with miscellaneous gifts for the honor guest from the assembled group. Not until next December when the identities of the "sisters" are revealed, will Miss Smith know which one of her sorority sisters really was responsible for the pleasant hospitality.

A program earlier in the evening was given by Miss Lula Minter, who displayed pictures in connection with a talk on the Panama canal.

In serving refreshments, Miss Siemsen observed a patriotic theme. She was assisted by Miss Lillian McDonald.

Tentative plans were revealed for the banquet March 6 at which formal initiation of pledges will be held.

Present were the sponsor, Miss Beulah May; Miss Lula Minter, speaker, and the Misses Lucie McDermott, Mary Ford, Dorothy Lindsey, Lillie Forsberg, Delphina Lopez, Hazel Lee, Lillian McDaniel, Mary Louise Wallace, Elsie Siemsen, Marie LaBrucherie, Mildred Staples, Isabelle Sircus, Carolyn Smith, Laura Malin, Ruth Stephenson, Lena May Wilsey, Geraldine Cole, Jean Enns; Mrs. Joseph Gifford and Mrs. William Long.

You and Your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Prince, 725 South Ross street, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Vandermaast, 425 South Birch street, were in Los Angeles Monday visiting with Mrs. Emma Lyday, who has been ill for some time. She is reported improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Curtis, 222 South Main street, returned yesterday from La Verne, where they spent the weekend visiting with the latter's sister, Mrs. Ida Lovegreen.

The Misses Marjorie Matthews and Zola Weir have returned to their duties at Nurses' Training school of San Diego General hospital after a week end spent in this city with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Weir, 1619 Spurgeon street.

Amateur Revue Discussed At Gay Luncheon

Had there chanced to be any flagging of interest on the part of Assistance League club members in the Orange County Districts to have its premiere tomorrow night in Ebell auditorium, there would have been a pronounced revival yesterday when club members were entertained at luncheon by Mrs. James Irvine.

Mrs. Irvine and Mrs. A. G. Flagg are co-chairmen of the Ebell day nursery board, and the revue with its double purpose, not only will aid in furthering ambitions of talented young people of the county, but will benefit the day nursery.

Yesterday's pleasant luncheon in the Doris Kathryn gave opportunity for learning of the progress of the ticket selling campaign directed by Mrs. William H. Spurgeon and her committee members. Mrs. Dexter Ball, Mrs. A. G. Flagg and Mrs. Edward M. Hall, Successors of their plans aroused special commendation and enthusiasm of their co-workers. It was pointed out that the moderate price prevailing for tickets was a factor in success of the sales. Those who have not yet secured cards may obtain them either at the club's headquarters, 421 North Spurgeon street, or through any member of the ticket committee.

While, of course, the welfare of the day nursery is the motivating force in presenting the revue, the Assistance League club is no less interested in affording opportunity for the county's various artists to appear before stage, radio and motion picture producers. The four nights of the revue will afford a representation of almost every form of entertainment. Selection of star performers will be governed by popular vote by the audience, just as in the famous Major Bowes amateur hour upon which the local affair is patterned.

Those who are successful in the four nights' presentation will go to Los Angeles to compete in the Assistance League amateur nights there, and theirs is a bona fide opportunity to bridge at one move that wide gulf that separates amateur and producer.

Enthusiasm of the clubwomen has been augmented by the cooperation of the city's prominent business men. In arranging programs, the women have sold six full pages of signatures (40 to a page) of these men, happy to aid both the day nursery project and the potential artists of the county.

Mrs. Earl Matthews, 319 East Seventeenth street, and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Weir, 1619 Spurgeon street.

Unique Gifts Awarded By Panhellenic Hostesses

"One of the prettiest parties we have had," enthusiastically declared Panhellenic members in discussing the hospitality which was extended them last night in Ebell lounge by Mrs. Paul Bailey, Mrs. Paul Gilbert, Mrs. Harry Huffman, Mrs. Carrie B. Wells and Miss Anna Trithall.

For this trifling of hostesses had applied a spring motif to their appointments that definitely enhanced the charm of the clubhouse lounge, and gave it the aspect of a drawing room in a pretty home. Bright-hued flowers were everywhere, and dainty little maids were surrounded by flowers on the tally cards used.

There was, of course, the business interval conducted by the president, Mrs. Harry LeBar. This was distinguished chiefly by the letter of appreciation addressed the society, by the student loan committee, expressing appreciation of the generous gift of $125 to the fund. This sum resulted from the annual Panhellenic holiday dance.

Both contract and auction bridge offered entertainment for the remainder of the evening. Mrs. Wells had grown the gourds which, given additional embellishment, rewarded holders of high scores in the two games. One gourd, painted with a Spanish mission scene, did duty as a unique candlestick. It was presented Mrs. Harry LeBar. The other had a colorful Spanish scene painted on its smooth surface, and went to Mrs. William Croddy. To Mrs. Ruth Wheeler with second high score, went a compote in Mexican design.

Section Gives Shower For Clubhouse Kitchen

Included in the store of new kitchen supplies at Ebell clubhouse are articles selected by members of Ebell Sixth Household Economics section, who held a shower during their latest meeting in the clubhouse. Thirty tea towels, 25 holders and 25 coffee bags were contributed by the generous group.

Mesdames O. W. Barr, Fred Zaisner and T. L. Warren were hostesses, serving luncheon at small tables decorated with red, white and blue flowers, George Washington hatchets and nut cups. Introduced as guests were Mrs. Laura Wharton of Portland, Ore., a guest of Mrs. H. T. Trueblood; Mrs. M. E. Geeting and Miss Beulah Parker.

Miss Parker sang several numbers including her own composition, "Heaven On Earth," accompanied by Mrs. Jessie White. Mrs. White and Mrs. W. H. Harrison were on the program committee for the day. Mrs. Geeting and Mrs. S. M. Davis gave readings. Mrs. J. E. Gowen, leader, presided over the meeting, which was attended by 23 members.

Past Noble Grands

Torosa Rebekah Past Noble Grands' association held a monthly luncheon last week in the home of the president, Mrs. Lucille Rathbone, 712 East Chestnut street. Mrs. Martha Vandewalker was elected recording secretary.

Present were Mesdames Mary Kuhl, Dora Morrow, Mead Swarthout, Laura Tramm, Ada Spencer, Lucille McKee, Blanche Chandler, Lucille Rathbone, Martha Vandewalker and two guests, Mrs. Lucetta Smith of Chicago and Mrs. Vosberg of Oshkosh, Wis.

Bridal Showers Given Setting In Long Beach

Miss Virginia Miller, 830 West Santa Clara avenue, whose marriage to Don Fielding of Denver, Colo., will take place March 10, was honored at a luncheon given recently at the Britany Kitchen, Wayside colony in Long Beach.

The Misses Helen Dodge and Melba Daily, former school friends of the bride-elect, joined in entertaining at the pre-nuptial event. Mrs. Lee Staton Jr. of this city and Mrs. John Hancock won prizes for scoring first and second high in bridge. The affair had been planned as a lingerie shower, with Miss Miller receiving many gifts.

Santa Ana guests with Miss Miller were Mrs. Staton, Miss Elizabeth Nelson and Miss Faye Borts. Long Beach friends in the group were Mesdames John W. Hancock Jr., Arthur Foster, Maurice Blaise, the Miss Helen Faye Conkings, Katherine Blackman, Elna Ward, Lillian Porter.

Miss Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Miller of this city. She received her A.B. degree from University of California, Berkeley in 1933 and is a member of Beta Sigma Omicron sorority. She has been employed in the local offices of Southern California Edison company for some time.

The Country Doctor

A Novelization of the Twentieth Century-Fox Film, Starring the Dionne Quintuplets With Jean Hersholt, Dorothy Peterson, June Lang, Michael Whalen and Slim Summerville

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DR. JOHN LUKE, country doctor in the little north woods settlement of Moosetown, receives an emergency call to the lumber mill when MIKE SCANLAN, lumberman, is crushed under a fallen log.

Mike has a close call, but the doctor and NURSE KENNEDY save him. With both legs in cast, Mike is obliged to stay behind when the last boat of the season departs, taking the crew of lumbermen south for the winter.

Dr. Luke and his efficient assistant, Nurse Kennedy, see the boat off. As it is about to sail, MacKENZIE, lumber company manager, appears. MARY, his daughter, is on the boat. MacKenzie forces her to return home. ASA WYATT, father of seven, comes with an urgent call for Dr. Luke.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

It was a boy at the Asa Wyatts'. The editor of the North Bay Weekly Tribune was less than astonished at news of the birth of another Wyatt heir when Asa called to have a notice inserted in the paper. It was the seventh autumn in a row that Wyatt had made just such a call.

Then winter closed in on Moosetown, and there set in the quiet, uneventful routine of the frozen days following one another. But there was always plenty for the country doctor to do. He called regularly at Mike Scanlan's boarding house, where Mike fretted at the shattered legs slowly mended, and tinkered with an amateur short-wave radio set he was gradually assembling. There were fewer accidents, now that logging was suspended, but an unusually severe winter brought plenty of sickness, and there were always babies.

The cold deepened, and a series of blizzards climaxed in one that threatened to shut off Moosetown from the outside world completely, drifting the straggling roads to the point where even Dr. Luke's sleigh was an undependable vehicle.

It was then that diphtheria struck. Beginning with a single case in the large family of La Croix, the half-farmer, half-trapper whose cabin stood isolated nine miles out in the heavy bush, it spread rapidly. Not only all La Croix's large brood came down with it before the doctor's precautions could have effect, but then he learned with horror that the La Croix children had attended a church supper to which half the children of the community had come. The parents had thought it was just croup, and neglected to call the doctor until it was too late. Three of the La Croix children died, and the other two barely pulled through.

But now from many isolated cabins, and from the fringes of Moosetown itself came red-faced, frantic men with steaming horses or even dog-sleds, imploring Dr. Luke to "come quick."

In his own sleigh if roads permitted, or on the dog-sledges of the farmers or loggers, Dr. Luke went wearily for 18, 20 hours a day to the cabins.

Always he found there the same terrible story. A young child, or several of them, gasping on a tousled bed, lips blue, the little body shaken by agonizing coughs. The simple parents of the backwoods stood dumbly waiting for the doctor to come, helpless in the face of what they did not understand. Often the doctor would find a child in the last stages of diphtheria in the same bed with not-yet-affected brothers and sisters.

His supply of antitoxin, used unsparingly, grew smaller. Without the help of Father Bonel, Dr. Luke could never have stood the strain. It was Father Bonel, parish priest, who suggested that the little, bare, church of Moosetown be converted temporarily into an isolation hospital.

tions of the Cross along the sides of the barren room, the children tossed and fretted under the visitation they could not understand. Some of the wooden pews had been shoved together to make beds. Wooden cots, as many as could be hastily gathered, stood in rows. Several mattresses lay on the bare floor. It had not even been possible to get enough beds. The whole church from chancel rail to door was pitifully crowded with the impromptu beds.

As cases began to appear in the town itself, Constable Jim Ogden's little daughter, Laura, was one of the first to show signs of the disease. Leaving hurried instructions as to the care of the other children, Dr. Luke himself took Laura to the hospital.

Outside the door of the church in the snow stood a knot of anxious women whose children lay within. All too often, Nurse Kennedy would have to come out and whisper to one of them tidings of which some instinct had forewarned her.

Entering the hospital with little Laura, Dr. Luke was surprised to see a new figure seated at the head of a cot. As soon as a place had been found for the constable's daughter, Dr. Luke strode to the bedside where sat the new nurse. As he approached, he heard the words,

".....and the way I do is just pretend. I just pretend I'm not here at all.... that I'm in Montreal. Just having the finest time in the world with all the toys and the other little girls there...."

It was Mary MacKenzie. As he knelt to administer treatment to the suffering youngster, Dr. Luke asked, in matter-of-fact tone but with iron in his voice: "When did you come in here?"

Mary was a little overawed by the stern voice. "Just this morning," she admitted. "Nurse-nurse said she needed a little help. I thought I would do what I could."

"Did you ask your father?" pursued the doctor relentlessly, never looking at her as he adjusted the hypodermic needle.

"Yes," breathed Mary, a little defiantly.

The door rose abruptly, and made a sign to Father Bonel, who understood only too well. He set down the armload of stove-wood he was carrying, and began to don his vestments.

Mary, seeing the movement, lar figure beckoning from the church vestibule, he quickened his pace and stepped into the vestibule, closing the door after him. It was Jerry, the Moosetown telegraph operator.

"Well, Jerry?" he asked anxiously.

"The wires ain't just broke, Doc, they're down, both the telephone lines and the telegraph! I don't know how far, probably miles! The blizzard's been gettin' worse!"

"When....?" There was no need for further question. Worry clouded the doctor's face.

"I ain't goin' to lie to you, Doc. I don't know when. Maybe days, maybe weeks. You kin guess as well as I kin. I can't even phone North Bay!"

The doctor, his face drawn, was thinking aloud. "Even if we got word out, nobody could get in here for a week, anyway, I guess." Brightening a bit he turned to Jerry with, "All right. Thank you. If anything at all turns up, let me know right away."

"I know, Doc. I will!" promised Jerry, and braced himself to return into the flying snow.

The door had scarcely slammed behind him when a white-faced Nurse Kennedy, frayed by sleepless days and nights, appeared in the vestibule.

"Wasn't that the telegraph operator?" she demanded. "What did he say?"

Dr. Luke made his way doggedly among the improvised beds, stopping to stroke a brow here, pat a hand, or give a word of reassurance. Suddenly, at sight of a famil-message through in a day or two, maybe tomorrow."

"Oh, I hope so! I hope so!" cried the nurse. Her voice was a prayer. "You know we have less than half a box of serum left?" The doctor nodded very slowly.

Suddenly the nurse's iron control began to waver. Half a step toward the doctor she took, and then:

"Why can't they have a hospital up here?" she cried wildly. "Why won't they listen to you? All these terrible accidents to the lumberjacks—I can stand that! But these children—I can't stand it! I can't stand their eyes! They keep looking at me, and their eyes say, 'Can't you help me? Can't you do something? I can't do anything! I can't stop the pain! I can't help them to breathe! We have nothing to work with....'"

The doctor's quick voice was angry and icy all at once.

"Katherine!" He glared coldly at the nurse. Her struggle to regain control of herself was visible. "Go back to the children!" said Dr. Luke sharply.

Nurse Kennedy hushed obediently and went back into the church, her shoulders squaring as she advanced.

Beside the bed that was now empty sat Mary MacKenzie, weeping softly. Nurse Kennedy approached, and looked down at her with some of the doctor's own steady coldness.

"Stop that howling!" she snapped. "If you can't control yourself, what good can you do these children?" The ghost of a grim smile flickered over the doctor's face as he observed this little tableau. Then, wrapping a muffler and the fur coat collar about his throat, he too stepped out into his waiting sleigh.

It was a short trip, but a bitterly cold battle against the drifts to get to Mike Scanlan's boarding-house. Wading through drifts above the tops of his Arctic, Dr. Luke entered the house and rushed to the room where Mike sat by a table, his legs still in casts. Mike was leaning forward sternly, ear-phones over his ears, toward a table where lay a jumble of radio parts and instruments.

"Any luck, Mike?" snapped the doctor, not even stopping to remove fur coat and scarf as he entered the room.

Mike shook his head. "If I only knew more about this thing," he complained desperately. "I only got it all together this morning. I don't even know if it's all here...." "You've GOT to get somebody, Mike!" breathed the doctor. "You have GOT to!"

"CQ, CQ, CQ—any amateur, especially Montreal—come in, please! An emergency. CQ, CQ, CQ—calling any amateur...." Mike's voice droned. Five minutes went by. Ten. Mike looked appealingly at Dr. Luke.

"Go on! Keep it up! You've got to get somebody!" Dr. Luke's voice was insistent. "Those children, up there at the church...."

DIFFERENT? YES... a woman's recipe

Women were quick to taste the difference. In test after test, they picked this woman's recipe loaf in preference to usual "baker's breads." Why? Because, they say, woman's recipe bread has more real flavor—more character. It is interesting to eat—not insipid, flat. Now woman's recipe bread is ready for you to try. See your grocer.

Developed by women after tasting hundreds of different breads

BY JULIA LEE WRIGHT
Head of one of the world's largest Home Economics Bureaus

Will you try a new bread which, Western women agree, is far more delightful—more tender and appetizing—to taste?

You see, it is basically different from the usual run of standardized "baker's breads," which are created by men.

This bread has stepped outside technical formulas. This is a woman's idea of what good bread should be!

Actually, it is your bread. Hundreds of you women—all over the West—helped develop it. Day after day housewives made tests in their own homes—compared loaves—gave us their own suggestions for making bread.

The result? A bread that "eats" better—and toasts better, every single slice!

A bread so good we want you to have it really fresh and fragrant—just as it comes from the oven.

DATED FRESHNESS

On the loaves of Julia Lee Wright Bread at your grocer's you will notice a Date Band on the wrapper.

This band tells you the day each loaf is at its height of freshness. It is your assurance of getting "woman's recipe" bread as tender-soft and delicious as when it left our bakery.

LAST November, at Auto Show time, we said, "Every year one great car flashes to the front." We expressed the belief that in 1934 it would be Studebaker. It is! The "Swing to Studebaker" is amazing.

Many improvements and features found in No Other Make of Car. There's beauty and styling to thrill the most critical eye. There's a new super-safety represented by the solid steel, one-piece top—the steel, steel-reinforced body—the feather-touch hydraulic brakes and, above all, the automatic hill-holder, found on no other car at any price.

"Death Rides The Highways" Will Change to Friday

Due to a change of broadcast dates, the many followers of the new radio drama, "Death Rides the Highways," who do not want to miss any of the programs will be dialing their favorite NBC Red network station on Friday nights instead of Saturdays, although the hour will remain the same, 7:30 to 8. The first Friday program will be broadcast on February 28.

In its two-fold role, "Death Rides the Highway," not only provides dramatic radio entertainment for hundreds of thousands of radio listeners, but also is a mighty safety campaign. The spine-tingling story of the program, the Western Auto Supply company, hope that it will lessen the number of automobile accidents on western highways.

Based on the theory that facts are more interesting than fiction, the plot for each drama is taken from actual records of accidents. Each story, complete in itself, emphasizes the sudden reversal of family happiness to sorrow that often results from traffic crashes, and is skillfully presented by some of the finest radio performers in the west.

"CARE LESS"-NESS

With reports of 50 arrests in one night by California Highway Patrol officers for operation of automobiles having illegal lighting and with Santa Ana's police department handing out 10 to 15 tickets nightly for the same offense, it looks like car light fixing is in order.

Maybe G. N. Grigsby of 1113 Spurgeon street is right, too. He claims it should not take an arrest campaign to influence people to drive carefully. Many motorists of Los Angeles, Orange and other counties hereabouts, "care less" for the other fellow than they should, he claims, and emphasizes by pointing to Santa Barbara county's traffic death record of three since January 1 as compared with 11 for Orange county. He says it is "comparatively safe for living" in Santa Barbara county because motorists do not wait to be asked to obey safety driving rules; they have the habit of care in driving.

Well, anyhow, motorists who do not care much for the other fellow might have faulty lights fixed to avoid breaking their own necks. And especially during the next few arrest campaign weeks, for, if they should escape a broken neck, they might be handed a traffic ticket.

LOOKING AHEAD

In a monetary conference at the University of Minnesota, five prominent economists quite generally agreed that a giant crash is inevitable, due to credit inflation. Of the five experts who made up the conference, two have been firm supporters of New Deal policies and were formerly associated with the present administration in the role of advisers. They were Dr. James Harvey Rogers of Yale University and Dr. C. O. Hardy of Brookings Institute. The other three were Dr. Melchior Palyi of the University of Chicago and Dr. Alvin Harvey Hansen, and Arthur W. Marget of the University of Minnesota, under whose sponsorship the conference was held.

Growing Rapidly
Dr. Palyi declared, "Inflation is not only imminent, it is here and growing rapidly, with a good chance for the greatest credit inflation in the history of the country. All previous booms will look like baby booms compared to the one which seems imminent on the basis of the present credit structure. And never has the power of the banking system, including the Federal Reserve and the Treasury, been less than now."

The Conference pretty generally agreed that there are various measures which could be applied by the Government to check further inflation, but it was the general agreement that the Government either would not or could not apply them.

POLITICAL MONEY

The New York Times carried an editorial explaining that Germany now has 16 different kinds of managed currency. Those who believe that money can be managed and not have actual value back of it, must certainly confess that Germany has not been very successful at it, nor has any other nation, for any length of time.

The following is taken from the editorial:
A "managed" currency, we used to be told, was one that would bring order out of laissez-faire chaos. Instead of being absurdly tied to gold, its value would be determined by some great disinterested brain or set of brains in the central government. Currency management, it is now generally agreed, has reached its highest point of thoroughness in Germany, and Germany has tidied and simplified everything by creating sixteen different marks with sixteen different values, depending upon who owns them, how he got them and what he wants to spend them for.

Now Germany has created one more mark, the "travel" mark. Unlike most of its cousins, the new unit is the result not of German initiative but of the suggestion of her creditors. The various "blocked" marks came into existence after the financial collapse of 1931, when it was found that Germany could no longer meet the wild scramble of her creditors to withdraw all at once the immense total of loans they had so optimistically made to her. She and her creditors then came to a "standstill" agreement, which has been renewed with modifications each year since then.

BOMBERS CAN'T CALL SHOTS

There came to hand recently a photograph of the Ethiopian town of Dessye. The picture was taken by an Italian aviator during the bombing raid of Dec. 6; and to look at it is to understand why aerial warfare will always bring its sorry tale of the bombing of hospitals and the killing of non-combatants.

For the photograph looks like little more than a glorified map. The keenest-eyed observer who ever sat in a plane would be hard put to tell which of its tiny dots represented a private house and which a barracks. It told where the town was, where the open country was, where woods and hills and streams were—but little more.

Aviators, in other words, cannot pick their targets with hair-line exactitude. They must fly high to avoid anti-aircraft guns; flying high, they just naturally can't call their shots. That being the case, they are pretty certain to kill a number of innocent people they didn't mean to kill. That sort of thing apparently is an inescapable part of the use of bombing planes.

OUR 'COIN' HARVEYS HELP SPUR U. S. ON

If you win a war for your country, you will get a great monument. If you do something for medical science, they will name a hospital for you. If you become a famous statesman, you will be enshrined in the history books; and if you are a great movie star, your face will be preserved forever on rolls of crackling celluloid.

But there is no kind of fame quite as strange as that which a man gets if he spends his life advocating some sort of change in his country's currency.

You may not be familiar with the name of Coin Harvey, but your grandchildren undoubtedly will find it in their history books, when they get around to such things. For Coin Harvey was the finest fruit and flower of the old Bryanite, Populist, 16-to-1 free silver era.

He was the Father Coughlin and the Dr. Townsend of the '90s, with some added picturesque traits all of his own.

Coin Harvey died just the other day, and his country hardly noticed his passing. He was a salty and individualistic person, though, and his memory ought not to fade away too fast.

He battled for free silver along with Bryan, and when his panacea was rejected by the electorate, he prophesied dire things. American civilization, he believed, would collapse because its money policy was unsound; some day, archeologists would come digging around in the ruins, wondering what had caused the downfall.

Coin Harvey wanted to enlighten them. So he prepared to build a great pyramid, in Arkansas, in the base of which would be deposited his written explanation of the death of a nation which had rejected free silver. The pyramid was never finished, but its base was built and a few years ago it housed one of the strangest national political conventions ever seen.

This was the convention of the "Liberty Party," called by Harvey to rescue the nation in 1931. Old-time Populists and Free Silverites mingled with up-to-date radicals from the cities. Adherents of Kansas' goat gland specialist, Doc Brinkley, were on deck; Non-Partisan Leaguers from the northwest were there; together with divers assorted cranks of no party at all.

These delegates nominated Coin Harvey for the presidency. He made the race in 1932, gathering a total of 53,000 votes. Then the country forgot him completely, and his death recently went almost unnoticed.

So what? Was it all wasted, this unimaginable energy that was poured into a nostrum which the country rejected? Was Coin Harvey a useless crank, and nothing more?

By no means. These agitators are useful citizens. They jar us out of our complacency, force us to re-examine things we take for granted—and in the end, by announcing that Utopia is just around the bend, help us to advance an inch or so on the long, toilsome journey to our destiny.

He's Getting That Wild Look In The Eye Again

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—An excellent illustration of the proper use of the moral influence of the President of the United States has just been given in a radio address delivered by Mr. Roosevelt.

In was in connection with the celebration of Brotherhood Day under the auspices of the national conference of Jews and Christians. Mr. Roosevelt had been criticized for not making direct representations to the governments of Mexico and Germany because of the persecution of Catholics and Jews, respectively, in those countries. The President left that to do so would be interfering in the internal concerns of a foreign nation.

But when the opportunity came, as it did on Sunday last, to speak in the abstract about religious freedom, Mr. Roosevelt in unmistakable terms outlined what he believes to be the overwhelming sentiment of the American people. Sometimes there is more to be gained by what Woodrow Wilson used to refer to as "implicit" rather than "explicit" discussion of a paramount issue. Thus Mr. Roosevelt did not have to mention concrete instances of religious persecution to enable his listeners throughout the world to apply what he said to particular areas of the earth's surface where religious persecution is at its height. From the viewpoint of diplomatic relations, the President preserved the amenities, but informally he left no doubt about the American point of view.

Nor did the President confine himself simply to interferences with religious worship. He spoke forcefully about the tendency to break down faith, so noticeable in the Russian Communist attitude toward religious fundamentals of the past. Mr. Roosevelt said, for instance:

"It is not your specific faith or mine that is being called into question—but all faith. Religion in wide areas of the earth is being confronted with irreligion; our faiths are being challenged. It is because of that threat that you and I must reach across the lines between our creeds, clasp hands and make common cause. To do that will do credit to the best of our religious tradition."

What practical value has such a speech, it will be asked, and how can it do any good when it is presumably never printed in Germany or Russia because of press censorship? The simple answer is that world opinion is a powerful influence when once mobilized in a common cause. Unfortunately as yet world opinion on the subject of religious freedom has by no means reached the stage of organized expression. The language of hate is still spoken and acted upon in different parts of the world, even in some areas outside of Germany and Russia. Little by little, as the value of international friendships becomes once more a factor considered by awakening peoples in the shaping of their own domestic policies, the crusade for a return of civilized behavior takes root and affects the attitude of governments again.

Mr. Roosevelt's address may be set down as a truly great utterance—one of the best expositions of American thought and principle that has been made by any chief executive of the American people.

Long after the hotly contested policies of his administration have been forgotten, the words of tolerance in Franklin Roosevelt's appeal for faith and religious freedom will be remembered. All through the depression, as men's hearts have despaired, they have been groping—unconsciously perhaps, but none the less patiently—for the truth that is expressed by the President in these lines:

"No greater thing could come to our land today than a revival of the spirit of religion—a revival that would sweep through the homes of the nation and stir the hearts of men and women of all faiths to a reassertion of their belief in God and their dedication to His will for themselves and for their world. I doubt if there is any problem—social, political or economic—that would not melt away before the fire of such a spiritual awakening."

Little Renny's Note Book

By LEE PAPE

My cuzzin Artie stayed at my house all nite last nite and me and him was playing my airplane game on the living room floor and pop was reading the paper in his private chair and all of a sudden he threw it on the floor saying, "Well by golly it no news is good news there's nothing but good news tonite."

Meaning no news, and I whispered to Artie and we got the paper and started to pretend to find all kinds of exciting news in it, me saying, "G. listen to this, did you see this pop? And I read a imaginery headline, saying, 'Giraffe with 2 Tails Chases Horse with 2 Heads around Church in the Mist of the Sermon.'"

That's one I must have overlooked, pop said. I always maintained that people who stay away from church will miss something sooner or later, he said, and Artie said, "G. here's a good one, did you read this one, Uncle Will, 2 Babies Fall out 10th Story Window and Catch Each Other in the Air and Save Each Others Life."

Snappy work, if they can catch like that when they're babies they'll probably grow up to be champion ball players, pop said. I can't imagine how I came to miss an item like that, he said, and I said, "Here's another one, pop, 40 Sellers Blown Up when Ship Explodes. All Come Down Safe with Parashoots. I bet you missed that one too, pop, I said."

I bet I did, pop said. Well, I'm glad to know it now. It must of been a grate site, not to say a remarkable experience, he said, and Artie said, "G. willikers Uncle Will, listen to this one, Dead Man Goes to Heaven and Dont Like it Much so He Returns to Earth and Asks to Have His Old Job Back."

So he does, and now you better look for one about 2 boys who either went on with their airplane game or elts went to bed, pop said.

Meaning us and proving he had knew we was only fooling all the time.

Thoughts On Modern Life

MUZZLE THE DEMAGOGUES

Lately I paid my respects in this column to the demagogue whether of the reactionary or radical stripe.

I was thinking then of the normal tactics of the demagogue which are more vigorously employed in a time of economic difficulty.

But there is a special note entering these early stages of the 1936 campaign discussions that calls for special mention.

Not much of this special note is sounded in the open yet, and it may be sounded more softly and secretly throughout 1936, but it needs identification.

This new note is an appeal to "hate" as between the Rich and the Poor.

There are hints of appeal to "hate" as between the Gentle and Alien born.

There are hints of appeal to "hate" as between White and Black.

There are hints of appeal to "hate" as between the Gentle and Jew.

And so on through a fairly long list.

In the interest of a sound and healthy national life a true Americanism will step and step hard on this emerging appeal to group hatred.

We must not permit the United States to be drawn into the orgy of group hatreds that has shamed Europe in these latter years.

Our national situation is not being further complicated by floods of foreign blood; immigration laws are preventing that.

Surely we are great enough as a people to digest our differences into a national team play between all groups.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

YOUTHFUL MARRIAGES

"I am sixteen and my sweetheart is nineteen, and we want to get married. Not right away, of course, but soon. He is a very lovely person and I love him to death and nothing can part us. We have made up our minds to that, but our parents are very stubborn and say that we must not see each other at all. We are thinking of running away and getting married. If my boy friend had a job we would but just now we must wait although it is very hard. Don't you think our parents are very wrong about this?"

I don't know because I don't know any of the people concerned in the problem, but I have seen a number of such situations and my experience teaches me that forbidding the young people to see each other is about the surest, quickest way of getting them married. I do not think that it is wise for a girl of sixteen or a boy of nineteen, neither of them matured mentally or physically, to marry. They are not prepared for the strains of married life, and are almost certain to come to grief. What is one to do about them?

First calm one's troubled spirit. Think back to the time when adolescence was one's own stage of growth and remember the feelings. Remember, too, the resentment toward arbitrary authority. The burning desire to be self-directing, free and independent. And the headstrong will, that could brook no interference, and was one's besetting fault. Wait until your ears stop buzzing and your hands are steady and your voice under control. Then say something about, "We must see. We have to think this over."

Don't forbid them to see each other. Talk things over and agree on certain visiting privileges. Don't allow them to overrun your good judgment and see each other every night. Smile that down. Keep them both at school, or so busy through the day that fresh interest must arise. If both of them are idle they will surely lose themselves in a self love that must end in tears and lamentations.

Give each of them responsibility. They must learn to shoulder their own loads, and the sooner the better. That means the young man must have steady occupation either in school or at work, and the girl either in school or at home work that makes her feel bound to deliver a daily duty well performed. She, if she intends to marry soon, ought to have a course in home-making, in infant care, nursing. Too many marriages fail because of the ignorance of one or both of the parties in relation to fundamental facts of marriage.

Marriage is a wholtime job for most people. The man finds it all he can do to keep the household free of debt, and the woman discovers early that home and home duties, including child bearing and rearing, is more than she can ever hope to finish in one lifetime. It is no play job for children in their teens. Some young people are fitted for early marriage; most are not, lacking maturity, experience and training. The few that are ready arouse no anxiety in their families, but the great group who are not ready yet insist that they are, give their people the bitterest hours of their lives.

Teach little children the facts of life and keep to them, through the years so that the adolescent has some glimmering of what he is talking about when he mentions marriage. Usually we find that the immature children who want to rush into marriage have not been so trained and taught. Their ignorance betrays them.

Editor, Register:

I think I have read all the editorials you have written for The Register and was about to come to the conclusion that you were hopeless now I beg your pardon. Why is inflation necessary? Is a masterpiece true clear and rings like a bell.

If you will follow that line of reasoning to a logical conclusion from where we are today you will have our present financial and debt structure entirely ruined and you will join one million other California citizens that are looking for a money system that will not destroy itself, and leave the owners of a gigantic debt structure as poor and helpless as the eleven million unemployed.

Natural laws cannot be changed by man and our present monetary system has failed in every country in which it is used for one reason, it is contrary to natural laws, and there is no greater foolishness than for us to go on trying to deceive ourselves. All the purchasing power there is with which to buy commodities is that paid out in the cost of production. Automatic labor saving machinery does not draw salary or wages neither does it consume what it produces. When a sow raises a litter of pigs we increase the wealth of the nation but when a dollar raises half its value in interest there is no new wealth but that much more poverty. Under our plan it is possible to trade profits for debt but otherwise there never has been and never can be any opportunity to pay a debt created by interest or profit except by inflation, which is repudiation. Yours for a better money system that doesn't murder itself by inflation and then deprive us older people of the earnings of a lifetime.

Editor Register:—

Being a presidential year, it might not be amiss to inventory our stock and available assets, against our obligations, and strike off at least a mental balance sheet.

Our party platforms all seem to have good features but only one has an economic key issue to build around, and that is weakened by its mathematical complexity and class features.

The key issue to serve us efficiently today must be non-class, non-sectional and of a magnitude to bring all of our districts in a uniform harmony.

The writer can think of but one answer to this:—Our country must go in co-partnership with Nature and on a scale big enough and broad enough to create, aid and distribute to the class or sectional units; industrials and endeavors generally, such as mining, manufacturing and agriculture and to the agencies that tend to the equitable distribution of wealth, i. e.,

Reforestation in co-partnership with us can be made a distributing agency that can put vigor into all lines of endeavor, economic, moral, physical, social and give the magic touch to all it contacts, i. e., self, uniform water supply, climatic conditions, health, happiness and all others necessary to life.

Many years ago, the writer had a quarter section forest ranch in the Rockies. He tried out an idea not original with him:—A neighbor and Pal, came to me and asked if there was some work for him. Knowing he was a good worker he was told Yes, you can take that sledge hammer and pound on the stump of that big tree at one dollar an hour.

He worked for one hour and asked for his money, and the writer could not blame him for quitting.

He was one of those, willing to work, but wanted to see "Bertie" Signed, Carl D. Smith.
